In Pennsylvania, Massachusetts

Primary Results Inflate Kennedy And Nixon Hopes

By The Associated Press

Primary results inflated the presidential hopes today of Sen. John F. Kennedy of Massachusetts and Vice President Richard M. Nixon.

Kennedy, who has several hard-campaigning rivals for the Democratic nomination, outpolled them all with overwhelming write-in totals Tuesday in the Pennsylvania and Massachusetts primaries.

Nixon, who has no announced rival for the Republican nomination, rolled up impressive totals that buried the hopes of those who wanted to see outbursts of sentiment for Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York.

Of the two primaries, the one in Pennsylvania had the most significance.

In Pennsylvania, where Nixon's name was the only one on the presidential preference ballot, his count piled up above the 863,785 received by President Eisenhower in the 1952 primary, and approached the 951,932 Eisenhower received in 1956.

With 8,229 of the 9,013 precincts counted, Nixon had 864,836 votes. Rockefeller was far back at 9,335.

One of the GOP delegates elected to the Chicago nominating convention was Harold E. Stassen, who tried to head off Nixon in 1956 and has been reported as launching a new stop-Nixon drive this year.

In the Pennsylvania Democratic contest Kennedy forged farther ahead as the count neared completion. With 7,990 precincts recorded, Kennedy had 151,162.

Behind him trailed Adlai Stevenson with 22,555, Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota with 10,500, Sen. Stuart Symington of Missouri with 5,256, and Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas with 2,192.

Kennedy's victory was not binding on the state's 81 delegate-votes at the Democratic National Convention in July. Nixon's victory, however, apparently assured him of Pennsylvania's 70 votes at the Republican convention.

In Massachusetts, Kennedy's home state, nearly complete returns gave him an overwhelming majority over the total for all rivals. All votes there were write-ins.

With 1,571 of 1,619 precincts counted, Kennedy had 89,657. Again Stevenson was a lagging second, at 4,311. Other Democrats in order were Humphrey 903, Symington 401, Johnson 274.

Nixon at that point had 51,272 to 4,066 for Rockefeller and 561 for Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge.

In the election of convention delegates, Kennedy won a solid 41-vote bloc. The Republican 38-vote delegation leans to Nixon.

Kennedy, campaigning in West Virginia for the May 10 primary, had little time to celebrate after spending a full day touring the state's southern coal fields.

He planned more campaigning today.

Meanwhile Symington, who has not entered any primaries, continued his two-day vote hunt in Michigan, lashing out at the Eisenhower administration.

In a speech prepared for a luncheon in Grand Rapids today, he said the administration was using "a weary old argument" in saying a $1.25 an hour minimum wage would increase unemployment.

Didn't Help Incite Riots, Ike Says Of Korea Crisis

Told Rhee To Correct 'Situation'

Insists He Deplores Violence Which Led To His Downfall

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower said today the United States had no part in inciting the riotous demonstrations that led to the resignation of Korean President Syngman Rhee.

As for his own role, Eisenhower told a news conference, the only thing he did was to tell Rhee that apparently there had been irregularities in the Korean elections, and that the situation which led to this should be corrected.

Eisenhower said he deplores the resort to violence in Korea—violence which brought the Rhee administration to collapse.

Eisenhower spoke of the 85-year-old Korean leader as a great man, a tremendous patriot, and the father of his country.

But as Rhee has grown older, the President said, some mistakes have been made.

As for his announced intention to visit Korea next June, Eisenhower said he plans at this time to go ahead with the visit.

At his first news conference in a month, Eisenhower dealt also with these other matters:

SUMMIT—Eisenhower said he never will attend any summit conference under a threat or ultimatum by Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev regarding the future of West Berlin. The President made that remark in commenting on Khrushchev's assertion earlier this week that the Western Allies will lose all rights of access to that divided city if the Soviet Union sign a separate peace treaty with East Germany.

Voters Reject Race Bet Bill In Allegheny

Voters approved pari-mutuel harness racing in six Pennsylvania counties Tuesday. Eight other counties rejected it.

Philadelphia County, the state's largest, was out of the starting gate first. Led by one of the state's most powerful Democrats — Rep. William Green — Philadelphians approved legalized gambling at the harness tracks by a vote of 197,031 to 42,408.

Allegheny County, second largest in the state and including Pittsburgh, rejected the proposal by more than 50,000 votes.

All the counties which approved the measure were in eastern Pennsylvania. Besides Philadelphia, the green light for pari-mutuel windows was given in Bucks, Chester, Delaware, Luzerne and Northumberland Counties.

The vote marked the first time Keystone State residents had an opportunity to authorize gambling of any kind. Churches and other groups fought the measure vigorously.

Proponents of the bill said it would bring added revenue into Pennsylvania. How much was a big question. But proponents said such money had been going to adjacent states which have legalized racing.

DeGaulle Hails New France In Nations' Unit

NEW YORK (AP) — French President Charles de Gaulle, basking in the warmth of this city's magnificent welcome, has hailed the establishment of a new France in the community of nations.

The man who pledged himself to restore grandeur to his faltering homeland told compatriots and Americans gathered in his honor Tuesday night:

"A new France—which is the true France of always—has made her appearance on the world scene. She has again made order in her own home and she has resumed the performance of her traditional international responsibilities."

In a toast to the man who rallied France in her darkest moment of defeat in World War II, Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller raised his glass before 2,000 guests at the dinner.

Midland Votes Bond Issue On Sewage Plant

Electors Also Ballot On Party Committee Posts For Borough

Midland voters approved two-to-one a $625,000 bond issue at Tuesday's primary to build a new sewage treatment plant. The unofficial vote was 835 to 404. It required a majority.

The borough submitted the proposal as a mandatory project required by the state in connection with the cleanup of the Ohio River and tributaries.

The economy of the bond plan was emphasized as borough officials said its rejection would have meant financing by another plant at an increased cost of $100,000. The vote by precinct.

Sewer Work Halts Pending Ditch Shoring

Work has halted temporarily on construction of an interceptor sewer in Toronto where a worker was suffocated Monday afternoon after a deep ditch collapsed.

Paul V. Baxter of McKinnon Ave., district inspector of the Ohio Department of Industrial Relations, said he will order shoring and timber supports to hold up the earthen walls of the ditch that collapsed, taking the life of Warren Hatcher, 36, of Mingo Junction, and injuring two fellow workers slightly.

The state inspector said his department did not know of the Toronto project because the engineering concern which prepared the plans did not submit them for approval, as is required of any factory or any building that will be used by the public. He recalled that similar sewage treatment plant projects in East Liverpool and Mingo Junction came under state inspection.

"My action amounts to a state order to halt work until proper shoring is put in," Baxter said.

His district covers Columbiana, Jefferson, Harrison, Carroll and Tuscarawas Counties. He is an inspector for the Department of Industrial Relations, Division of Factories and Buildings.

The engineering concern apparently expects to submit the plans to the Ohio Department of Industrial Relations. The plans were approved by state and government health officials but the Industrial Relations department apparently was overlooked, it was said.

The Erskine Construction Co. of Youngstown apparently halted the work voluntarily until shoring can be constructed to guard against further cave-ins.

Boroughs, Townships Fill Committee Posts

Industry Borough and Ohio Township, along with other area subdivisions, elected a committeeman and a committeewoman for each precinct, in Tuesday's balloting. Many are undecided due to write-ins receiving the same number of votes. They were:

Industry — 1st Precinct: Arnold Robbins, 27, and Margaret Stephenson 23, Republicans; John Gregor, 96, and Helen Hornick, 82, Democrats; 2nd precinct: Clyde Knight and Bessie Lee, 59 each, Republicans, and Irene Sosack, 63, and Allen Craft, 53, Democrats.

Ohio Township — 1st: Richard Rice, 4, and write-ins, Republicans; Joe Kadilak, 7, and Lois Melnick, 3, Democrats; 2nd: high-

Disqualifies Self Due To Statement Of Bias, Prejudice

WASHINGTON (AP)—U.S. Dist. Judge F. Dickinson Letts today disqualified himself to hear a suit seeking the ouster of James R. Hoffa as president of the Teamsters Union.

Judge Letts decided to stand aside because of a sworn statement filed by Hoffa accusing him of bias and prejudice.

The judge said he did so "with no thought or intention of admitting the truth of the affidavit or any part thereof."

Letts sent the case to Chief Judge David A. Pine for assignment to another judge.

Letts said that under federal rules of procedure his only function was to decide the legal sufficiency of Hoffa's affidavit.

And, he said, he felt the proceedings should be assigned to another judge.

The ouster proceeding against Hoffa is a civil action, involving no criminal charges. When court convened, a half-dozen moves by Hoffa to block or delay the case were pending.

Hoffa's removal is sought by court-appointed monitors who allege he misused $600,000 of union funds in promoting various personal business projects, including a Florida real estate development as a retirement village for union members. Hoffa has denied any wrongdoing.

Hoffa has asked Judge Letts to disqualify himself from the case on grounds of bias, to delay it pending decisions in other tangled court proceedings, or to cancel the trial altogether. Hoffa contends the only way he can be removed is by the union that elected him.

Pending also is a decision from the U.S. Court of Appeals on Hoffa's plea that it stop Judge Letts from proceeding with the case.

Huh Chung Acting President

New Korean Head Pledges Reforms

SEOUL, Korea (AP)—South Korea's acting president, installed after civil rebellion toppled Syngman Rhee, pledged himself today to political reforms. He even aimed his new broom at what he called "waste and mismanagement" in the U.S Korean-aid program.

Huh Chung, named foreign minister by Rhee as the regime started to buckle under revolutionary anger, took over the powers of the presidency early today. Huh and his Cabinet, which thus far has only two other members, will serve as a caretaker regime until a new president and vice president are elected. The Constitution requires this to be done within three months.

Huh, 64, an independent politician and former premier, called a news conference soon after Rhee, fulfilling a promise made Tuesday, resigned the presidency he had held ever since South Korea became a republic 12 years ago.

He outlined this nation's most important problems to be dealt with after healing the wounds inflicted by more than a week of bloody civil uprisings. High on his list were the questions of relations with the United States and Japan.

"I plan to establish proper measures to improve these relations as soon as possible and make particular efforts to carry them out," Huh said.

"Frankly, I think there is need to improve understanding between the United States and Korea and bring about closer cooperation. There are certain areas in relations between the nations where things should have been handled more properly."

The unsatisfactory areas, Huh said, are economic aid military aid.

Under the Rhee administration, Hugh added, "I think there was waste and mismanagement."

The vice president-elect, Lee Kipoong, was in hiding to escape the wrath of demonstrators who claimed his election March 15 was rigged. A U.S. Army spokesman denied a report Lee had taken refuge at the U.S. base at Inchon.

Huh told his news conference he would accept the resignation

Citizen Group Proposed For Postal Project

New Building Rather Than Remodeling Is Wellsville Objective

Ends 70 Years Of Foreign Rule

Republic Of Togo Becomes Independent Africa Nation

LOME, Togo (AP) — Thousands of natives danced in the brightly lit, palm-lined streets of Lome early today as the Republic of Togo became the newest member of Africa's fast-growing family of independent nations.

Independence for Togo's 1,200,000 people came at midnight, ending 70 years of foreign rule, under Germany, Britain briefly and finally France, as the United Nations Trust Territory of Togoland.

Gaily dressed Togolese and hundreds of foreign diplomats and officials flocked to this West African capital to take part in the independence festivities.

Representatives of more than 80 nations, including U.S. Attorney General William Rogers, watched the French tricolor flutter down. In its place the new republic's flag went up, a white star on a red field with green and yellow stripes.

Lome, which had been building up to the climax for two days, exploded in wild celebration. Rousing national songs echoed as dancing crowds snaked along the sandy sidewalks behind strident bands.

Oil torches brandished overhead by most of Lome's 70,000 citizens lit the city up like daylight.

The new republic is headed by Premier Sylvanu Olympio, 57, an ardent admirer of the United States and other Western nations.

The government will continue to depend on France for financial aid and protective troops.

An exporter of cocoa, coffee and phosphates, Togoland lies between Ghana on the west and Dahomey on the east. It covers an area slightly smaller than West Virginia, and all but 1,500 of its people are black.

Didn't Help Incite Riots, Ike Says Of Korea Crisis

Told Rhee To Correct 'Situation'

Insists He Deplores Violence Which Led To His Downfall

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower said today the United States had no part in inciting the riotous demonstrations that led to the resignation of Korean President Syngman Rhee.

As for his own role, Eisenhower told a news conference, the only thing he did was to tell Rhee that apparently there had been irregularities in the Korean elections, and that the situation which led to this should be corrected.

Eisenhower said he deplores the resort to violence in Korea—violence which brought the Rhee administration to collapse.

Eisenhower spoke of the 85-year-old Korean leader as a great man, a tremendous patriot, and the father of his country.

But as Rhee has grown older, the President said, some mistakes have been made.

As for his announced intention to visit Korea next June, Eisenhower said he plans at this time to go ahead with the visit.

At his first news conference in a month, Eisenhower dealt also with these other matters:

SUMMIT—Eisenhower said he never will attend any summit conference under a threat or ultimatum by Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev regarding the future of West Berlin. The President made that remark in commenting on Khrushchev's assertion earlier this week that the Western Allies will lose all rights of access to that divided city if the Soviet Union sign a separate peace treaty with East Germany.

Sewer Work Halts Pending Ditch Shoring

Work has halted temporarily on construction of an interceptor sewer in Toronto where a worker was suffocated Monday afternoon after a deep ditch collapsed.

Paul V. Baxter of McKinnon Ave., district inspector of the Ohio Department of Industrial Relations, said he will order shoring and timber supports to hold up the earthen walls of the ditch that collapsed, taking the life of Warren Hatcher, 36, of Mingo Junction, and injuring two fellow workers slightly.

The state inspector said his department did not know of the Toronto project because the engineering concern which prepared the plans did not submit them for approval, as is required of any factory or any building that will be used by the public. He recalled that similar sewage treatment plant projects in East Liverpool and Mingo Junction came under state inspection.

"My action amounts to a state order to halt work until proper shoring is put in," Baxter said.

His district covers Columbiana, Jefferson, Harrison, Carroll and Tuscarawas Counties. He is an inspector for the Department of Industrial Relations, Division of Factories and Buildings.

The engineering concern apparently expects to submit the plans to the Ohio Department of Industrial Relations. The plans were approved by state and government health officials but the Industrial Relations department apparently was overlooked, it was said.

The Erskine Construction Co. of Youngstown apparently halted the work voluntarily until shoring can be constructed to guard against further cave-ins.

U.S. Jurist Steps Out Of Hoffa's Case

Disqualifies Self Due To Statement Of Bias, Prejudice

WASHINGTON (AP)—U.S. Dist. Judge F. Dickinson Letts today disqualified himself to hear a suit seeking the ouster of James R. Hoffa as president of the Teamsters Union.

Judge Letts decided to stand aside because of a sworn statement filed by Hoffa accusing him of bias and prejudice.

The judge said he did so "with no thought or intention of admitting the truth of the affidavit or any part thereof."

Letts sent the case to Chief Judge David A. Pine for assignment to another judge.

Letts said that under federal rules of procedure his only function was to decide the legal sufficiency of Hoffa's affidavit.

And, he said, he felt the proceedings should be assigned to another judge.

The ouster proceeding against Hoffa is a civil action, involving no criminal charges. When court convened, a half-dozen moves by Hoffa to block or delay the case were pending.

Hoffa's removal is sought by court-appointed monitors who allege he misused $600,000 of union funds in promoting various personal business projects, including a Florida real estate development as a retirement village for union members. Hoffa has denied any wrongdoing.

Hoffa has asked Judge Letts to disqualify himself from the case on grounds of bias, to delay it pending decisions in other tangled court proceedings, or to cancel the trial altogether. Hoffa contends the only way he can be removed is by the union that elected him.

Pending also is a decision from the U.S. Court of Appeals on Hoffa's plea that it stop Judge Letts from proceeding with the case.

Huh Chung Acting President

New Korean Head Pledges Reforms

SEOUL, Korea (AP)—South Korea's acting president, installed after civil rebellion toppled Syngman Rhee, pledged himself today to political reforms. He even aimed his new broom at what he called "waste and mismanagement" in the U.S Korean-aid program.

Huh Chung, named foreign minister by Rhee as the regime started to buckle under revolutionary anger, took over the powers of the presidency early today. Huh and his Cabinet, which thus far has only two other members, will serve as a caretaker regime until a new president and vice president are elected. The Constitution requires this to be done within three months.

Huh, 64, an independent politician and former premier, called a news conference soon after Rhee, fulfilling a promise made Tuesday, resigned the presidency he had held ever since South Korea became a republic 12 years ago.

He outlined this nation's most important problems to be dealt with after healing the wounds inflicted by more than a week of bloody civil uprisings. High on his list were the questions of relations with the United States and Japan.

"I plan to establish proper measures to improve these relations as soon as possible and make particular efforts to carry them out," Huh said.

"Frankly, I think there is need to improve understanding between the United States and Korea and bring about closer cooperation. There are certain areas in relations between the nations where things should have been handled more properly."

The unsatisfactory areas, Huh said, are economic aid military aid.

Under the Rhee administration, Hugh added, "I think there was waste and mismanagement."

The vice president-elect, Lee Kipoong, was in hiding to escape the wrath of demonstrators who claimed his election March 15 was rigged. A U.S. Army spokesman denied a report Lee had taken refuge at the U.S. base at Inchon.

Huh told his news conference he would accept the resignation

Ends 70 Years Of Foreign Rule

Republic Of Togo Becomes Independent Africa Nation

LOME, Togo (AP) — Thousands of natives danced in the brightly lit, palm-lined streets of Lome early today as the Republic of Togo became the newest member of Africa's fast-growing family of independent nations.

Independence for Togo's 1,200,000 people came at midnight, ending 70 years of foreign rule, under Germany, Britain briefly and finally France, as the United Nations Trust Territory of Togoland.

Gaily dressed Togolese and hundreds of foreign diplomats and officials flocked to this West African capital to take part in the independence festivities.

Representatives of more than 80 nations, including U.S. Attorney General William Rogers, watched the French tricolor flutter down. In its place the new republic's flag went up, a white star on a red field with green and yellow stripes.

Lome, which had been building up to the climax for two days, exploded in wild celebration. Rousing national songs echoed as dancing crowds snaked along the sandy sidewalks behind strident bands.

Oil torches brandished overhead by most of Lome's 70,000 citizens lit the city up like daylight.

The new republic is headed by Premier Sylvanu Olympio, 57, an ardent admirer of the United States and other Western nations.

The government will continue to depend on France for financial aid and protective troops.

An exporter of cocoa, coffee and phosphates, Togoland lies between Ghana on the west and Dahomey on the east. It covers an area slightly smaller than West Virginia, and all but 1,500 of its people are black.

Citizen Group Proposed For Postal Project

Plans for forming a citizens' committee to further investigate the possibility of obtaining a new Post Office building were started at a public meeting held Tuesday night at Daw Junior High School to discuss the pros and cons of the proposed 12th St. site for a Wellsville Post Office.

The postal department has plans for remodeling the former Standard Hardware building at 12th and Main Sts. The building has been purchased by a Cleveland firm for lease to the postal department.

The meeting was called by Atty. Delmar T. O'Hara, president of the W. C. Bunting Co. pottery, who served as moderator.

About 30 attended. The organization meeting for the committee will be held Friday night at 8 in the visual education room of the school. Representatives of various organizations, will be asked to attend, along with interested persons.

The majority of those attending last night represented American Legion Post 70, Veterans of Foreign Wars Posts 5647 and 9285, Kiwanis Club, Elks Lodge, Wellsville Women's Civic Club, Chamber of Commerce, Board of Education and City Council.

Mobile X-ray equipment of the Columbiana County Public Health League will be stationed on the Diamond Thursday and Friday to give free chest examinations to East Liverpool residents 18 or over as part of the tuberculosis control program, Dr. E. G. Kuhlman, city health commissioner, said today.

Note Written In 1870 By Carpenter Is Found

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — Immortality is the goal of many, but each person attempts to achieve it in a different way.

A 19th Century house was being torn down here recently when among the falling nails, plaster, timbers and boards workmen found a note. Harry Jackson, a workman at the scene, picked it up and read it. The note said:

"When you take this impost out pleas take notis of this paper. And think of Francis L. Merrimert, a carpenter (who) worked for Jacob A. Day in the year 1870 in Dayton, Ohio."

Ike

Eisenhower discounted any idea that Khrushchev was making a serious threat. But if the Kremlin leader did mean it seriously, the President went on, he wanted to make it perfectly clear that he never would attend the summit conference to be held in Paris next month under the threat of any ultimatum.

The President said he thinks it is neither feasible nor possible to settle the differences over Berlin at the summit meeting, but he is hopeful some progress in that direction can be made.

NIXON—Eisenhower said he expects it will not be necessary for Vice President Richard M. Nixon to take over for him and represent the United States at part of the summit meeting.

The White House announced Tuesday that Nixon will represent the President at the conference if domestic problems make it necessary for Eisenhower to return to this country before the meeting ends. Explaining that decision, Eisenhower noted that Congress will be in session during the summit session, starting May 16.

There will be important bills before Congress, Eisenhower went on, and some could require his attention in Washington. He mentioned specifically the possibility that he might want to veto some measures. Some legislation, he remarked, requires the deepest study and daily personal consultation with his aides.

RELIGION — Eisenhower was fully prepared for a request he got for comment on what a reporter called the injection of the religious issue into presidential primary campaigns.

The President whipped a sheet of paper from his pocket and said he wanted to quote from two sections of the Constitution.

He first read from Article VI specifying that there shall be no religious test as a qualification for office. Then he read from the Bill of Rights the part saying that Congress shall make no law prohibiting the exercise of religious freedom.

Note Written In 1870 By Carpenter Is Found

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — Immortality is the goal of many, but each person attempts to achieve it in a different way.

A 19th Century house was being torn down here recently when among the falling nails, plaster, timbers and boards workmen found a note. Harry Jackson, a workman at the scene, picked it up and read it. The note said:

"When you take this impost out pleas take notis of this paper. And think of Francis L. Merrimert, a carpenter (who) worked for Jacob A. Day in the year 1870 in Dayton, Ohio."

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP)—Police backed by soldiers, staged another big raid today on the Westbank African settlement near the Indian Ocean port of East London. They arrested 312 Negroes on various charges, mainly lack of passbooks and work shirking.

Eisenhower discounted any idea that Khrushchev was making a serious threat. But if the Kremlin leader did mean it seriously, the President went on, he wanted to make it perfectly clear that he never would attend the summit conference to be held in Paris next month under the threat of any ultimatum.

The President said he thinks it is neither feasible nor possible to settle the differences over Berlin at the summit meeting, but he is hopeful some progress in that direction can be made.

NIXON—Eisenhower said he expects it will not be necessary for Vice President Richard M. Nixon to take over for him and represent the United States at part of the summit meeting.

The White House announced Tuesday that Nixon will represent the President at the conference if domestic problems make it necessary for Eisenhower to return to this country before the meeting ends. Explaining that decision, Eisenhower noted that Congress will be in session during the summit session, starting May 16.

There will be important bills before Congress, Eisenhower went on, and some could require his attention in Washington. He mentioned specifically the possibility that he might want to veto some measures. Some legislation, he remarked, requires the deepest study and daily personal consultation with his aides.

RELIGION — Eisenhower was fully prepared for a request he got for comment on what a reporter called the injection of the religious issue into presidential primary campaigns.

The President whipped a sheet of paper from his pocket and said he wanted to quote from two sections of the Constitution.

He first read from Article VI specifying that there shall be no religious test as a qualification for office. Then he read from the Bill of Rights the part saying that Congress shall make no law prohibiting the exercise of religious freedom.

The Contests For Convention Delegates

Ohio Republican and Democratic voters alike will be faced with choices on Tuesday in the selection of delegates to the national conventions which will select the parties' presidential nominees.

Although the contest in the Democratic party is much broader, the challengers on both ballots represent efforts to hamstring the development of unified, responsible party organizations at the state level.

On both sides, where are issues which can be clearly defined to guide the party members in the placement of their 'x's on the ballots.

Republican

The challenger on the Republican delegate ballot is former U.S. Sen. George H. Bender of Cleveland, who seeks one of the 10 at-large seats from Ohio in the Republican National Convention to be held in Chicago starting July 25.

The other 10 at-large candidates are endorsed by the state Republican committee. They all are pledged to Vice President Richard M. Nixon, with his written consent, for the presidential nomination.

Mr. Bender is pledged to himself.

He challenged the party organization solely out of anger at being excluded from the endorsed list of delegates. He apparently hopes in this manner to compensate for his fall from grace within the party as the result of some of his activities in recent years.

We believe that Ohio's position as a leading state in the nation demands an effective voice in the Republican convention. This can be achieved best with a unified delegation.

Since Mr. Bender's candidacy is aimed at benefiting himself personally, we urge Republican voters to cast their ballots for the party's delegate candidates, under whose names appears the legend, "First Choice for President, Richard M. Nixon."

The unopposed Republican delegation from the 18th Congressional District, pledged to Nixon as first choice for the presidential nomination and State Auditor James Rhodes as second choice, includes Mrs. Letha Astry of Salem, district woman member of the GOP state central committee, and Robert J. Hocker of Steubenville, Jefferson County GOP chairman.

Candidates for alternates are Tom Richards, Carroll County prosecutor, and Mrs. Isabelle K. Chaney of Cadiz, Harrison County GOP chairwoman.

Democratic

The challenger on the Democratic delegate ballot is Cuyahoga County Chairman Ray T. Miller, who has entered a slate of 14 candidates for delegate-at-large and 5 candidates for alternate-at-large, pledged to Albert S. Porter, Cuyahoga County engineer.

They oppose a full slate of 36 candidates for at-large delegates and 17 candidates for at-large alternates, pledged to Gov. Michael V. DiSalle.

Alternates are Maurice Rapport, city businessman, and Atty. Hugo Alexander of Steubenville, Jefferson County Democratic chairman.

The twist in the Democratic contest is that both the DiSalle and Miller slates have pledged themselves to support the nomination of Massachusetts Sen. John F. Kennedy for president. But there is an expressed difference between the two.

If Sen. Kennedy's drive founders and he drops out of the top running, Gov. DiSalle's delegates would decide in caucus which candidate to support.

Mr. Miller has said his slate will support whomever Sen. Kennedy wants to support. Despite campaign efforts of Mr. Porter to discard this promise, the Miller slate's slogan still remains, "Sen. Kennedy All the Way."

Here again, we believe that Ohio's position in the nation demands an effective voice in the Democratic convention. This can best be achieved with a unified delegation which would decide its course of action on the basis of what Ohio wants to do rather than what Sen. Kennedy wants to do.

We urge Democratic voters to cast their ballots, in both the at-large and district races, for the delegates under whose names appears the legend, "First Choice for President, Michael V. DiSalle."

Five-Way Supreme Court Contest

Ohioans marking Republican ballots next Tuesday must choose among five candidates who want to make the November race against Democrat John W. Peck, appointed to the State Supreme Court when James Garfield Stewart died a year ago.

There is no race on the Democratic ballot for either this unexpired term or the two Supreme Court full terms expiring this year. Republicans are making a contest of only the unexpired term.

Two of the five Republicans are especially attractive — Willard D. Campbell and C. William O'Neill, the former Republican governor.

Mr. Campbell has been a frequent candidate for the Supreme Court. He has made the race five times, including a contest with Chief Justice Carl V. Weygandt for top position in 1956, when he polled 1,210,377 votes, a most creditable total. Some of his other losing contests, like that one, were staged because he does not believe even a strong candidate for the Supreme Court should win without opposition.

Among Mr. Campbell's qualifications is the special distinction he won in 1953 when he finished the gargantuan task of directing the revision of the Ohio Code. He is a former prosecutor, former common pleas judge and a practicing lawyer. He is 59.

Former Gov. O'Neill has attractive qualifications, too. First and foremost, he had been a sure-fire winner in every vote contest until he lost the 1958 election for governor and can be assumed to have retained the knack. Second, he would be a bright propsect at the age of 44 to make long and distinguished record on the Ohio Supreme Court if he won a place this year.

It is probably that Mr. O'Neill, the best-known name, will attract the most votes and that Mr. Campbell, less widely known, will be hurt by the loss of votes to the other three names on the ballot — Elizabeth Bell Winter, Paul W. Brown and Richard Murray Stewart. With two particularly good candidates, it's a pity one of them must lose.

Uncontested in the primaries are James F. Bell, Democratic incunbent, and Earl R. Hoover, Republican, for the Supreme Court term beginning Jan. 1, and Kingsley A. Taft, Republican incumbent, and Joseph H. Ellison, Democrat, for the term beginning Jan. 2.

Judicial candidates in Ohio, it must be remembered, are nominated as partisans, though they run in the November elections as nonpartisans.

Harry Truman has been baby-sitting for his daughter in New York. We imagine the routine when one of the kids got troublesome: "There, now, be a good baby and grandpa will wiggle his ears and read the Cinderella story.

"Once upon a time there was a big bad wolf named Nixon who ate all the other party candidates. The hunters, who were woodchoppers from Missouri, rushed in and. . ."

The baby continues to cry.

"Very well, I'll tell you the fable of Harry, the Giant Killer. Once there was a giant named Tom Dewey who swore he would wipe Harry off the map. But Harry staged a coast-to-coast train campaign. Wanna hear him imitate a choo-choo car coming around the bend and into the White House?"

He doesn't seem to be getting anywhere but continues: "Look at grandpa's picture walking in Park Ave. No? Very well, let me make funny faces for you. Watch me imitate Abe Lincoln, Will Rogers, Santa Claus, Thomas Jefferson and the Four Marx Brothers."

(The child starts wailing.)

"Look, I'll show you my comical hats. Now I'm the Wicked Ogre, sometimes known as a Republican editor . . . Presto, and I'm Hawkshaw the Detective investigating the mystery of the missing divots on the White House lawn."

It's no use. The child's unhappiness continues. "I know what's the trouble," says Harry. "Baby wants to play horse. Okay, but I'll do it with a donkey. And remember NO ELEPHANTS."

'Whatever You Do, Don't Walk Him!'

A Harmony Mission With Humphrey

NEW YORK

Symbolically, inside the Hotel Commodore's Century Room, 500 union leaders were in a World Affairs Conference while on the "terrace" floor just outside, two of labor's policy makers were conferring on affairs which might shake the same world. And even the White House.

Victor Riesel

The terrace is a bar by night. But it was obvious that these men, the Hatters' Alex Rose and auto town's Walter Reuther, had more headturning things in mind than whisky.

They had sought the isolation of the abandoned terrace to discuss the pace of the Hubert Humphrey-John Kennedy West Virginia battle on the Labor-Liberal strength inside the Democratic party before the nominating convention — and inside the voters' minds after the nominations.

THAT SAME DAY — at exactly 3 p.m. Rose walked into Hubert Humphrey's headquarters in Washington's Senate Office Building.

With the tall genial "Hatter" were Art Goldberg, the labor lawyers' labor lawyer, and Morris Novik, the AFL-CIO's radio and TV consultant who began it all with Fiorello (LaGuardia). Theirs was a harmony mission.

They have known Humphrey a long time. They and their colleagues had backed him even before the pharmacist, political science professor and Phi Beta Kappa had become the first Democrat ever to go from Minnesota to the Senate.

There was deep hurt in Humphrey's voice. Swiftly his words spilled over. He had fought many of labor's wars. But now they seemed to have walked away when he needed them most. They had not thrown much change into the political pot during his Wisconsin fight when he had needed the money.

He said he had been campaigning not only for labor but for a place in the political sun for the Midwest states. They agreed.

But they replied softly to their friend that they were saving their money for a fight on "labor's opponents" and not for a feud between two of labor's closest political allies.

They urged Humphrey to forget the bitterness of both the Wisconsin and West Virginia primaries. They told him labor's influence inside the Democratic party would be sharply wounded if scars remained after the primary wars between their two friends.

HUMPHREY, who had taken well over two hours out of his pitched battles with Kennedy in West Virginia and with the Western tornado named Wayne Morse in Washington, D.C., listened gravely and patiently. Then he asked what was the solution.

Alex Rose, who would be a powerful man indeed if he were as successful a president maker as he is a phrasemaker, chuckled and retorted, "It would be wonderful if both of you could win in West Virginia. You both can't; then at least let one win and the other not lose. Both of you must continue to be in the same camp and enjoy the confidence of labor."

Quietly, counselor Art Goldberg assured the senator of "all labor's profound affection for you."

An invisible presence rustled almost audibly in the back of the big leather chairs. Somewhere down the corridors of this building and in the nearby Capital the influence of Lyndon Johnson and Sam Rayburn haunted the labor-liberal bloc.

Soon Humphrey spoke long and mellifluously of his own affection and respect for Jack Kennedy. The grimness and hurt feelings were gone, the old affable Humphrey returned.

There was bantering — only to be interrupted by a long distance phone call.

At the other end was Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt. She too urged Humphrey — as they all had urged Jack Kennedy — not to split the bloc's influence in the party.

Humphrey listened for 15 minutes. The others waited. They had all made their point. They shook hands on it.

A Tale Of Three Fingers

By Truman Twill

Everybody who thinks C. Morthcote Parkinson, to be referred to hereinafter as Professor Parkinson, is funny will want to know what I said to him and he said to me in Washington, D. C., last week.

You don't know who he is? He is a Britisher—a teacher—with a puckish sense of humor and an acidulous viewpoint. He leaped to fame in this country with "Parkinson's Law," which says work expands to fill the time alloted for its performance. This made Americans love Parkinson. It rationalized featherbedding. Parkinson is a shrewd operator.

A little later, he pointed out something else that Americans chuckled about: Big shots always surround themselves with smaller shots, to the end that the caliber finally gets so small there is no brain-power left.

When you get a chance to know a man who can think of things like that, you do not hesitate. I did not hesitate. After listening to Parkinson do his stuff, I wiped the tears of laughter off my face and marched up to the rostrum to swap ideas on the state of humor in America.

Others had the same idea. It was minutes before the crowd around the man thinned out enough to let me get close. Several minutes later, I saw an opening, darted in and reached for Parkinson's hand, introducing myself.

"Do you think we could use a little more humor in the press of our country," I was going to ask. "How do you think we compare in this respect with the British press?" I had loaded both barrels.

But I never got past, "Do you think?" A hushy-tail darted between Parkinson and Me. He was blabbering nonsense about an English composition teacher who had butchered his 12-year-old daughter's fine essay about trees being easier to get acquainted with than people.

This is to be expected in a crowd. But what made it hard to handle was the way I still had hold of Professor Parkinson's hand. The intruder never gave us a chance to finish a perfunctory handshake before butting in.

It was the same uncertainty I feel in a dentist's chair when the lady assistant leaves her fingers in my mouth while the dentist lopes off to have a smoke. What do you do with a lady's fingers in your mouth — lick 'em or bite 'em? What do you do with a humorist's hand?

I held on. I didn't squeeze. But I didn't unsqueeze, either. I retained possession while the fool babbled on about his idiot daughter.

I stood my ground. I wanted to know how Parkinson felt about humor in the press, it being my opinion that the press is so preoccupied with gritty problems of public consequence that its editors forget their readers customarily take these things in their stride and would welcome an invitation to pick daisies by the wayside of their daily living.

When the pest ran out of blabber and after three others had elbowed in to say they had enjoyed the funny man's performance, it was time for him to leave, according to the program chairman, who now had him by the elbow and was getting him under way. I had the happy thought of walking along, to get Parkinson's answer to the question I still hadn't asked. After all, I still had his hand. I never did get the question asked.

Parkinson was whisked away so fast, in order to get rid of people like me who were capable of boring him stiff, that I was left with no memento of my nearness to this folly performer, except three fingers from his right hand.

I knew everybody would want to know this, because it isn't every day that a fellow has three fingers of Old Parkinson, heretofore referred to as "Professor." Cheers!

World Court Could Be Answer To Warning

Nikita Khrushchev has upset the applecart again. He declares in his latest speech that, if the Soviet Union chooses to sign a peace treaty with the East German government, this could lead to the loss by the Western Allies of their rights of access to West Berlin, "by land, water or air."

David Lawrence

This is a renewal of a threat made some time ago but, coming as it does now after a period of "peaceful coexistence" and exchanges of visits between the top men of the West and East, it raises a question as to what has been really resolved.

The Soviet Premier may have had a tactical reason for expressing again his warning to the West.

The summit conference is due in the middle of May at Paris and it might be assumed that no participant government would, publicly at least, recede from its viewpoint before such a meeting takes place. But it is significant that Mr. Khrushchev now questions the validity of the Allied agreements themselves which ended World War II.

If one ally can ignore the signatures of other allies to a contract and, by the simple device of recognizing a government in a portion of what was previously occupied territory, thinks it can deprive the conquering nations of their rights, then international contracts or agreements are meaningless.

This is what is known as a "juridicial" question. It can be settled by a court of international law. Such a tribunal exists today at The Hague with the sanction of the United Nations.

It is known as The International Court of Justice. Certainly there could be no logical reason for refusing to accept the jurisdiction of such a court to answer one question — are the rights of the allies separable. Can the rights of one be forfeited as a result of the acts of another signatory?

THERE HAS always been a dispute as to whether the inter-Allied agreement which provided for four zones of occupation in Europe did provide for access to the Russian zone in Germany.

It is true nothing was specifically spelled out in the document on the subject of access primarily because it was not deemed necessary. Here were the military representatives of the three principal governments — the Soviet Union, The United States and Great Britain — drawing up arrangements to occupy what had been enemy territory.

It would be absurd to contend that failure to mention a specific right of access meant a denial of such a privilege between the occupying armies.

But the right of an army of occupation, acting in concert with other armies of an alliance, is something that international law has dealt with in principale many times before.

What the present controversy amounts to, in fact, is an effort to demolish the entire agreement by the withdrawal of one of the signatories. Certainly a nation can withdraw from an occupation zone any time it pleases but it cannot impair rights obtained by its allies.

Since these are legal questions, it would appear that they might well be considered by The Court of International Justice if agreement by direct diplomatic negotiation should prove unsuccessful.

There was a time in world history when settlement of international disputes by legal tribunals was widely advocated. It was frequently asserted that, while questions of "national honor" couldn't be adjudicated, there was every reason why questions of a "justiciable" nature should be submitted to tribunals of law.

MANY QUARRELS of an international character have been submitted to special commissions of arbitration.

The United States has often been called upon in the past to settle boundary disputes between Latin-American nations when those nations agreed to submit such controversies to a commission composed of members of the Supreme Court of the United States.

The existence today of an international court at The Hague which accepts cases from all countries, irrespective of whether they are members of the court, is fortunate. For a ready-made machinery is available to all sides provided they are really sincere in their desire to solve international disputes without resort to military force.

Back of the deadlock between the Soviet Union and the Western countries over the status of West Berlin has been a threat of one-sided action. The threat to deprive the Western Allies of their rights in West Berlin, by assuming that the East German Republic would decline to recognize them, implies that military force might be invoked.

It is clear now that the Western Allies do not intend to give up West Berlin and that any attempt to take away their rights would be met by military resistance.

Nikita Khrushchev knows this and hence, if he is only talking for propaganda purposes, no one will be disturbed. But if he means to fulfill his threat of unilateral action, then the idea of using the world court to settle the legal points involved affords an honorable formula for the solution of the dispute.

A Different Approach

WASHINGTON

Just a little over a year ago this country's handling of foreign affairs began to undergo a profound change, at least outwardly, although there was no way of knowing it for a while.

The word outwardly was chosen carefully. There has been no basic change in American foreign policy which still remains a standoff with the Soviets. In this past year there has been no solution of any major East-West issue.

But at least the way of handling the standoff is different.

It began in April a year ago when Christian A. Herter was sworn in as secretary of state, succeeding John Foster Dulles who soon afterward died of cancer. The difference in handling foreign policy is rooted in the difference between them.

Dulles, the dominant type, was given to flamboyant, startling, even provocative statements as part of his foreign affairs strategy to threaten an enemy or try to push him off balance.

Herter is a mild man who pitches his foreign policy in a low, soft key. Dulles seemed to think nothing could be done unless he did it personally. Herter has more confidence in his subordinates, depends more on his staff.

Neither Dulles nor Herter has come up with an original basic policy. Both followed the Truman policy before them: stiff-arm the Soviets and the Red Chinese. But at least relations with the Soviets handled on a much milder plane than Dulles was capable of, seem to have improved.

In the long run this appearance may prove to be an optical illusion.

But the improvement in relations with the Soviet Union has its roots in factors which have nothing to do with Herter's manner. President Eisenhower has taken a more active part in foreign affairs, and the Soviets pushed Eisenhower into this.

Almost from the time Herter took over Eisenhower moved out of the Dulles shadow and began asserting himself, with the result that Herter is now pretty completely overshadowed by Eisenhower.

In the beginning, because he didn't know Herter as well as Dulles, Eisenhower may have felt impelled to take charge.

But in the background, forcing Eisenhower to move up front and center, was Premier Nikita Khrushchev who created such a crisis over his demands for the Allies to get out of Berlin he practically blackjacked Eisenhower into inviting him here to talk things over.

Further, the nimble Khrushchev had set an example for activity by a head of state by his own personal trips to countries and areas he wished to impress or influence.

The Khrushchev activity and travels were a challenge to Eisenhower to do the same. And Eisenhower did. This of necessity put Herter in the background.

It would be the crowning achievement of his life if at the summit conference in May or sometime before he leaves office next Jan. 20 Herter could work out an arrangement with the Soviets to give better relations some permanency.

There is no doubt he will try his best, since he works hard, despite his crippling arthritis. Otherwise, he will go down in history more as a caretaker than a leader. It's too soon yet to say which he is.

The Contests For Convention Delegates

Ohio Republican and Democratic voters alike will be faced with choices on Tuesday in the selection of delegates to the national conventions which will select the parties' presidential nominees.

Although the contest in the Democratic party is much broader, the challengers on both ballots represent efforts to hamstring the development of unified, responsible party organizations at the state level.

On both sides, where are issues which can be clearly defined to guide the party members in the placement of their 'x's on the ballots.

Republican

The challenger on the Republican delegate ballot is former U.S. Sen. George H. Bender of Cleveland, who seeks one of the 10 at-large seats from Ohio in the Republican National Convention to be held in Chicago starting July 25.

The other 10 at-large candidates are endorsed by the state Republican committee. They all are pledged to Vice President Richard M. Nixon, with his written consent, for the presidential nomination.

Mr. Bender is pledged to himself.

He challenged the party organization solely out of anger at being excluded from the endorsed list of delegates. He apparently hopes in this manner to compensate for his fall from grace within the party as the result of some of his activities in recent years.

We believe that Ohio's position as a leading state in the nation demands an effective voice in the Republican convention. This can be achieved best with a unified delegation.

Since Mr. Bender's candidacy is aimed at benefiting himself personally, we urge Republican voters to cast their ballots for the party's delegate candidates, under whose names appears the legend, "First Choice for President, Richard M. Nixon."

The unopposed Republican delegation from the 18th Congressional District, pledged to Nixon as first choice for the presidential nomination and State Auditor James Rhodes as second choice, includes Mrs. Letha Astry of Salem, district woman member of the GOP state central committee, and Robert J. Hocker of Steubenville, Jefferson County GOP chairman.

Candidates for alternates are Tom Richards, Carroll County prosecutor, and Mrs. Isabelle K. Chaney of Cadiz, Harrison County GOP chairwoman.

Democratic

The challenger on the Democratic delegate ballot is Cuyahoga County Chairman Ray T. Miller, who has entered a slate of 14 candidates for delegate-at-large and 5 candidates for alternate-at-large, pledged to Albert S. Porter, Cuyahoga County engineer.

They oppose a full slate of 36 candidates for at-large delegates and 17 candidates for at-large alternates, pledged to Gov. Michael V. DiSalle.

Alternates are Maurice Rapport, city businessman, and Atty. Hugo Alexander of Steubenville, Jefferson County Democratic chairman.

The twist in the Democratic contest is that both the DiSalle and Miller slates have pledged themselves to support the nomination of Massachusetts Sen. John F. Kennedy for president. But there is an expressed difference between the two.

If Sen. Kennedy's drive founders and he drops out of the top running, Gov. DiSalle's delegates would decide in caucus which candidate to support.

Mr. Miller has said his slate will support whomever Sen. Kennedy wants to support. Despite campaign efforts of Mr. Porter to discard this promise, the Miller slate's slogan still remains, "Sen. Kennedy All the Way."

Here again, we believe that Ohio's position in the nation demands an effective voice in the Democratic convention. This can best be achieved with a unified delegation which would decide its course of action on the basis of what Ohio wants to do rather than what Sen. Kennedy wants to do.

We urge Democratic voters to cast their ballots, in both the at-large and district races, for the delegates under whose names appears the legend, "First Choice for President, Michael V. DiSalle."

Five-Way Supreme Court Contest

Ohioans marking Republican ballots next Tuesday must choose among five candidates who want to make the November race against Democrat John W. Peck, appointed to the State Supreme Court when James Garfield Stewart died a year ago.

There is no race on the Democratic ballot for either this unexpired term or the two Supreme Court full terms expiring this year. Republicans are making a contest of only the unexpired term.

Two of the five Republicans are especially attractive — Willard D. Campbell and C. William O'Neill, the former Republican governor.

Mr. Campbell has been a frequent candidate for the Supreme Court. He has made the race five times, including a contest with Chief Justice Carl V. Weygandt for top position in 1956, when he polled 1,210,377 votes, a most creditable total. Some of his other losing contests, like that one, were staged because he does not believe even a strong candidate for the Supreme Court should win without opposition.

Among Mr. Campbell's qualifications is the special distinction he won in 1953 when he finished the gargantuan task of directing the revision of the Ohio Code. He is a former prosecutor, former common pleas judge and a practicing lawyer. He is 59.

Former Gov. O'Neill has attractive qualifications, too. First and foremost, he had been a sure-fire winner in every vote contest until he lost the 1956 election for governor and can be assumed to have retained the knack. Second, he would be a bright propsect at the age of 44 to make long and distinguished record on the Ohio Supreme Court if he won a place this year.

It is probably that Mr. O'Neill, the best-known name, will attract the most votes and that Mr. Campbell, less widely known, will be hurt by the loss of votes to the other three names on the ballot — Elizabeth Bell Winter, Paul W. Brown and Richard Murray Stewart. With two particularly good candidates, it's a pity one of them must lose.

Uncontested in the primaries are James F. Bell, Democratic incunbent, and Earl R. Hoover, Republican, for the Supreme Court term beginning Jan. 1, and Kingsley A. Taft, Republican incumbent, and Joseph H. Ellison, Democrat, for the term beginning Jan. 2.

Judicial candidates in Ohio, it must be remembered, are nominated as partisans, though they run in the November elections as nonpartisans.

The baby continues to cry.

He doesn't seem to be getting anywhere but continues: "Look at grandpa's picture walking in Park Ave. No? Very well, let me make funny faces for you. Watch me imitate Abe Lincoln, Will Rogers, Santa Claus, Thomas Jefferson and the Four Marx Brothers."

(The child starts wailing.)

"Look, I'll show you my comical hats. Now I'm the Wicked Ogre, sometimes known as a Republican editor . . . Presto, and I'm Hawkshaw the Detective investigating the mystery of the missing divots on the White House lawn."

It's no use. The child's unhappiness continues. "I know what's the trouble," says Harry. "Baby wants to play horse. Okay, but I'll do it with a donkey. And remember NO ELEPHANTS."

'Whatever You Do, Don't Walk Him!'

NEW YORK

Symbolically, inside the Hotel Commodore's Century Room, 500 union leaders were in a World Affairs Conference while on the "terrace" floor just outside, two of labor's policy makers were conferring on affairs which might shake the same world. And even the White House.

Victor Riesel

The terrace is a bar by night. But it was obvious that these men, the Hatters' Alex Rose and auto town's Walter Reuther, had more heady-turning things in mind than whisky.

They had sought the isolation of the abandoned terrace to discuss the pace of the Hubert Humphrey-John Kennedy West Virginia battle on the Labor-Liberal strength inside the Democratic party before the nominating convention — and inside the voters' minds after the nominations.

THAT SAME DAY — at exactly 3 p.m. Rose walked into Hubert Humphrey's headquarters in Washington's Senate Office Building.

With the tall genial "Hatter" were Art Goldberg, the labor lawyers' labor lawyer, and Morris Novik, the AFL-CIO's radio and TV consultant who began it all with Fiorello (LaGuardia). Theirs was a harmony mission.

They have known Humphrey a long time. They and their colleagues had backed him even before the pharmacist, political science professor and Phi Beta Kappa had become the first Democrat ever to go from Minnesota to the Senate.

There was deep hurt in Humphrey's voice. Swiftly his words spilled over. He had fought many of labor's wars. But now they seemed to have walked away when he needed them most. They had not thrown much change into the political pot during his Wisconsin fight when he had needed the money.

He said he had been campaigning not only for labor but for a place in the political sun for the Midwest states. They agreed.

But they replied softly to their friend that they were saving their money for a fight on "labor's opponents" and not for a feud between two of labor's closest political allies.

They urged Humphrey to forget the bitterness of both the Wisconsin and West Virginia primaries. They told him labor's influence inside the Democratic party would be sharply wounded if scars remained after the primary wars between their two friends.

HUMPHREY, who had taken well over two hours out of his pitched battles with Kennedy in West Virginia and with the Western tornado named Wayne Morse in Washington, D.C., listened gravely and patiently. Then he asked what was the solution.

Alex Rose, who would be a powerful man indeed if he were as successful a president maker as he is a phrasemaker, chuckled and retorted, "It would be wonderful if both of you could win in West Virginia. You both can't; then at least let one win and the other not lose. Both of you must continue to be in the same camp and enjoy the confidence of labor."

Quietly, counselor Art Goldberg assured the senator of "all labor's profound affection for you."

An invisible presence rustled almost audibly in the back of the big leather chairs. Somewhere down the corridors of this building and in the nearby Capital the influence of Lyndon Johnson and Sam Rayburn haunted the labor-liberal bloc.

Soon Humphrey spoke long and mellifluously of his own affection and respect for Jack Kennedy. The grimness and hurt feelings were gone, the old affable Humphrey returned.

There was bantering — only to be interrupted by a long distance phone call.

At the other end was Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt. She too urged Humphrey — as they all had urged Jack Kennedy — not to split the bloc's influence in the party.

Humphrey listened for 15 minutes. The others waited. They had all made their point. They shook hands on it.

A Tale Of Three Fingers

By Truman Twill

Everybody who thinks C. Morthcote Parkinson, to be referred to hereinafter as Professor Parkinson, is funny will want to know what I said to him and he said to me in Washington, D. C., last week.

You don't know who he is? He is a Britisher—a teacher—with a puckish sense of humor and an acidulous viewpoint. He leaped to fame in this country with "Parkinson's Law," which says work expands to fill the time alloted for its performance. This made Americans love Parkinson. It rationalized featherbedding. Parkinson is a shrewd operator.

A little later, he pointed out something else that Americans chuckled about: Big shots always surround themselves with smaller shots, to the end that the caliber finally gets so small there is no brain-power left.

When you get a chance to know a man who can think of things like that, you do not hesitate. I did not hesitate. After listening to Parkinson do his stuff, I wiped the tears of laughter off my face and marched up to the rostrum to swap ideas on the state of humor in America.

Others had the same idea. It was minutes before the crowd around the man thinned out enough to let me get close. Several minutes later, I saw an opening, darted in and reached for Parkinson's hand, introducing myself.

"Do you think we could use a little more humor in the press of our country," I was going to ask. "How do you think we compare in this respect with the British press?" I had loaded both barrels.

But I never got past, "Do you think?" A hushy-tail darted between Parkinson and Me. He was blabbering nonsense about an English composition teacher who had butchered his 12-year-old daughter's fine essay about trees being easier to get acquainted with than people.

This is to be expected in a crowd. But what made it hard to handle was the way I still had hold of Professor Parkinson's hand. The intruder never gave us a chance to finish a perfunctory handshake before butting in.

It was the same uncertainty I feel in a dentist's chair when the lady assistant leaves her fingers in my mouth while the dentist lopes off to have a smoke. What do you do with a lady's fingers in your mouth — lick 'em or bite 'em? What do you do with a humorist's hand?

I held on. I didn't squeeze. But I didn't unsqueeze, either. I retained possession while the fool babbled on about his idiot daughter.

I stood my ground. I wanted to know how Parkinson felt about humor in the press, it being my opinion that the press is so preoccupied with gritty problems of public consequence that its editors forget their readers customarily take these things in their stride and would welcome an invitation to pick daisies by the wayside of their daily living.

When the pest ran out of blabber and after three others had elbowed in to say they had enjoyed the funny man's performance, it was time for him to leave, according to the program chairman, who now had him by the elbow and was getting him under way. I had the happy thought of walking along, to get Parkinson's answer to the question I still hadn't asked. After all, I still had his hand. I never did get the question asked.

Parkinson was whisked away so fast, in order to get rid of people like me who were capable of boring him stiff, that I was left with no memento of my nearness to this folly performer, except three fingers from his right hand.

I knew everybody would want to know this, because it isn't every day that a fellow has three fingers of Old Parkinson, heretofore referred to as "Professor." Cheers!

World Court Could Be Answer To Warning

Nikita Khrushchev has upset the applecart again. He declares in his latest speech that, if the Soviet Union chooses to sign a peace treaty with the East German government, this could lead to the loss by the Western Allies of their rights of access to West Berlin, "by land, water or air."

New Ohio Medium-Security Prison To Be Ready In 1961

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The new medium-security prison at Lebanon will be ready late next year, say officials of the Division of Correction.

Knowlton Construction Co. of Bellefontaine is apparent low bidder for the general contract on the final phase of construction at the institution, the Public Works Department said.

Included in this third phase are six cell blocks, a large workshop for penal industries and maintenance work, a gymnasium, laundry, road, fence and drainage facilities.

The Knowlton firm bid $2,978,000, compared with a state estimate of $3,589,797, officials said. With supplementary contracts, the cost of the project is expected to be about $4,300,000, or more than $600,000 below estimates.

Work on this final phase is expected to begin in June, and the contractor technically has 24 months to do the job.

Correction Commissioner Maury C. Koblentz said the division will ask that the workshop be completed first. He said that transfer of the license plate-making operation to Lebanon from Ohio Penitentiary may come in time for manufacture of 1963 tags.

About 200 inmates already have been transferred to Lebanon from the overcrowded Mansfield Reformatory and about 300 more will be transferred by July 1. These inmates will work on the honor farm near the prison and perform maintenance work.

City Car Firm To Distribute English Make

Central Service of W. 7th St. has been named distributor for 2 new 10-foot long autos from England featuring radical advances in motoring.

The firm has added the Austin 850 and Morris 850 cars to its dealership.

By mounting the 4-cylinder engine crosswise with the entire transmission for front-wheel drive mounted beneath it, 80 per cent of the overall length is available for passenger use with ample space for four adult passengers and luggage.

The transmission tunnel has been done away with and the propeller shaft and rearend noise and vibration eliminated. The 10-inch wheels are independently sprung from an entirely new system using rubber cones and hydraulic shock absorbers.

The bodies of the British Motor Corp. cars are of unitized construction.

The cars are capable of speeds in excess of 70 miles an hour with hill climbing and cornering ability to match, the dealer said.

Forms and assistance may be obtained from the auditor's office in the Courthouse, Freeman said.

AWOL Sailor Questioned In Theft Of Auto

A Glenmoor youth and one from Cleveland, both reported absent without leave from the Great Lakes (Ill.) Naval Training Station, are being held today at Warren for Columbiana County authorities in connection with charges of car theft and possible burglary.

The two sailors were picked up Tuesday morning at a park at Warren where police found them asleep in a shelterhouse.

Sheriff Russel VanFossan said the youths are believed connected with the theft of a car from Indiana, which was recovered last night by Chief Deputy James Miller on the old Ziegler Farm in Washington Township, about a half mile north of Route 39.

Neighbors said they saw two youths wearing T-shirts and Ivy League caps park it there Sunday.

The sheriff said the auto — a 1954 convertible — had a license plate stolen from Warren Sunday and beneath the front seat was an Indiana plate.

The youths' Navy clothing with names and serial numbers were found in the auto, VanFossan reported.

Warren police said the two admitted a burglary at Parkman. The sheriff said deputies will go to Warren today to question the pair.

Deputy Ronald Gause last night recovered a 1956 auto on Route 154 east of Negley which was reported stolen from Beaver yesterday morning.

U.S. Launches Hunter-Killer Atomic Sub

GROTON, Conn. (AP)—Tullibee, Uncle Sam's first nuclear-powered hunter-killer submarine, was launched today moments after the commander of the Atlantic Antisubmarine Fleet accused the Soviet Union of trying to "enslave the world."

Vice Adm. Edmund B. Taylor, who is responsible for keeping track of enemy submarines, labeled the Soviet Union a tyranny. He declared, without disclosing figures, that the Soviet submarine fleet "is four times the size of our own submarine force today.

The 273-foot long, 2,600-ton Tullibee, packed with sonar tracking ears, represents the latest development in the Navy's antisubmarine warfare weapons program. The skipper is Lt. Cmdr. Richard E. Jortberg, who heads a crew of 6 officers and 50 men.

15 More Lose Lives In New Iranian Quakes

TEHRAN, Iran (AP) — Panic-stricken residents again fled the battered city of Lar Tuesday to escape new quakes which toppled weakened building and added 15 more dead to the estimated toll of 500.

Persons caught in the latest quakes described them as heavy. They said the center of the city 550 miles south of Tehran was in ruins as a result of Sunday's two shattering quakes and the series of shocks that have followed.

58 Million Copies Sold Daily

Demand For Newspapers Reported At All-Time High

NEW YORK (AP) — Demand for newspapers is at an all-time peak, with 58 million copies being sold in the United States every day, D. Tennant Bryan, president of the American Newspaper Publishers Assn., said today.

He told the ANPA's annual convention that to meet the need "the news media available to the average American today are greater in both number and variety than ever before in history."

Bryan, publisher of the Richmond, Va., News-Leader and the Times Dispatch, disputed any contention that mergers or consolidations of newspapers were a sign of newspaper debilitation.

He said mergers were nothing more than a natural working of economics to effect operating economies through a joint production plant, and had nothing to do with demand for newspapers.

One of the committee reports to today's convention session cited a controversial Air Force manual as illustrating "how deep-rooted government's attitude is against the people's right to know."

The report said further that the government uses more than 150 statutes as authority to withhold information, on subjects ranging from security to peanuts, but that a fight for a freer flow of information continues in both the Senate and House.

The report was prepared by the association's federal laws committee, headed by M. W. Armistead III of the Roanoke, (Va.) Times and News-World.

The federal laws committee report said the Air Force manual was issued in 1955 and "only recently withdrawn because of numerous protests.

"This," the committee reported, "is what the manual said: " 'another rather silly remark often heard concerning security is that Americans have a right to know what's going on. Most people realize the foolhardiness of such a suggestion.

" 'Keep in mind that public news media present only as much information as the government wants to release.' "

The report said the House Government Information subcommittee headed by Rep. John E. Moss (D-Calif) had completed a list of all federal laws which the government uses as authority to withhold information.

"Uncovered," the report said, "were more than 150 statutes ranging from laws protecting military information to a law imposing secrecy on peanut statistics."

Jerry Russell, 955 Main St., Wellsville, teacher of the seven and eighth grades at No. 16 School in Yellow Creek Township, was elected president of the Columbiana County Education Association at the annual spring dinner meeting Tuesday evening at Beaver Local School.

He succeeds Ralph Meyers, principal at Fairfield-Waterford High School.

John Baker of Salineville, executive head of the Southern Local School District, was elected delegate to the National Education Association sessions in June at Los Angeles.

Ernest Skidmore of Beaver Local and Emerson Snyder of Fairfield-Waterford were elected delegates to the East Central Ohio Teachers Association meeting in Canton in the fall.

Miss Ruth Deringer of Fairfield-Waterford and Harry West and Theodore Taylor, both of Beaver Local, were elected delegates to the Ohio Education Association. Miss Evelyn Albright of Fairfield-Waterford and E. E. Braid of Wayne are first and second alternates.

played, along with specifications and plans for an entirely new building. According to the postal specifications, a new building, if constructed, would be located somewhere between 4th and 12th Sts.

During a discussion on the 12th St. building, it was revealed that a self-service laundry had considered leasing the building but rejected it after a survey showed a traffic hazard in the area.

In a discussion on the boundaries of the business area, it was decided the center would be the Public Square at 4th St. In further discussion, it was informally agreed the business area will expand toward Buckeye Ave. and east toward the floodwall. It also was pointed out that Hillcrest will be the main center of population in years to come.

It was announced that the Chamber of Commerce Board of Directors, in a secret ballot, voted that the Chamber go on record in favor of a new building in preference to the remodeled building.

of South Korea's ambassador to the United States, You Chan Yang, and that of the ambassador to Japan, Yiu Tai-Ha.

Rhee's resignation was delivered to the National Assembly an hour after it had adjourned for the day. The Assembly meets Thursday to accept it and the resignation becomes effective at that moment.

Some newspapers called for election of a new Assembly. They charged that the 1958 election of the present legislature, in which Rhee's Liberal party won a dominant majority, was as crooked as the March 15 presidential election which touched off the revolt against the father of the country.

Steel Orders Hold 'Steady'

NEW YORK (AP)—Steel orders are holding steady but the industry operating rate is headed for further sharp declines, Iron Age Magazine said today.

The national metalworking weekly noted "a slowing of cancellations and some new rush orders indicate the low point in new orders may be past."

However, Iron Age said it would not be surprising if the operating rate fell into the mid or low 60s (per cent of capacity) in late June. It currently is 79.4 per cent of capacity.

"But there are indications," the publication said, "of a possible good pickup in the second half. With inventories cut to the bone, steel users may have to come into the market in July and August for substantial tonnages. . . .

"In fact, there are some signs that the new order outlook for June is better than May. If the market should bottom out next month, the second half outlook will be substantially better.

"In anticipation of sudden new orders, mills are building up inventories of semi-finished steel in order to be ready for quick service when needed. This has been a factor in keeping the operating rate in the 80s in recent weeks."

SURPLUS FOOD

Early in 1958, at a meeting of the Democrat Club, President Larry Finlay urged the Club to demand surplus food for our County.

As a result, Mr. Finlay, Earl Spencer, and myself met with the County Commissioners, who were solid Republican. We failed to get action in two meetings with them, but learned that 1600 County pensioners were entitled to the food. We knew then the justice of our cause.

Forward looking Democrats will need the experience of a seasoned, capable candidate for the fall elections. Lawrence A. Finlay has the the political know-how, and the issues, to help carry our great Party to victory in November. Nominate him for County Recorder.

played, along with specifications and plans for an entirely new building. According to the postal specifications, a new building, if constructed, would be located somewhere between 4th and 12th Sts.

During a discussion on the 12th St. building, it was revealed that a self-service laundry had considered leasing the building but rejected it after a survey showed a traffic hazard in the area.

In a discussion on the boundaries of the business area, it was decided the center would be the Public Square at 4th St. In further discussion, it was informally agreed the business area will expand toward Buckeye Ave. and east toward the floodwall. It also was pointed out that Hillcrest will be the main center of population in years to come.

It was announced that the Chamber of Commerce Board of Directors, in a secret ballot, voted that the Chamber go on record in favor of a new building in preference to the remodeled building.

of South Korea's ambassador to the United States, You Chan Yang, and that of the ambassador to Japan, Yiu Tai-Ha.

Rhee's resignation was delivered to the National Assembly an hour after it had adjourned for the day. The Assembly meets Thursday to accept it and the resignation becomes effective at that moment.

Some newspapers called for election of a new Assembly. They charged that the 1958 election of the present legislature, in which Rhee's Liberal party won a dominant majority, was as crooked as the March 15 presidential election which touched off the revolt against the father of the country.

Steel Orders Hold 'Steady'

NEW YORK (AP)—Steel orders are holding steady but the industry operating rate is headed for further sharp declines, Iron Age Magazine said today.

The national metalworking weekly noted "a slowing of cancellations and some new rush orders indicate the low point in new orders may be past."

However, Iron Age said it would not be surprising if the operating rate fell into the mid or low 60s (per cent of capacity) in late June. It currently is 79.4 per cent of capacity.

"But there are indications," the publication said, "of a possible good pickup in the second half. With inventories cut to the bone, steel users may have to come into the market in July and August for substantial tonnages....

"In fact, there are some signs that the new order outlook for June is better than May. If the market should bottom out next month, the second half outlook will be substantially better.

"In anticipation of sudden new orders, mills are building up inventories of semi-finished steel in order to be ready for quick service when needed. This has been a factor in keeping the operating rate in the 80s in recent weeks."

SURPLUS FOOD

Early in 1958, at a meeting of the Democrat Club, President Larry Finlay urged the Club to demand surplus food for our County.

As a result, Mr. Finlay, Earl Spencer, and myself met with the County Commissioners, who were solid Republican. We failed to get action in two meetings with them, but learned that 1600 County pensioners were entitled to the food. We knew then the justice of our cause.

Forward looking Democrats will need the experience of a seasoned, capable candidate for the fall elections. Lawrence A. Finlay has the the political know-how, and the issues, to help carry our great Party to victory in November. Nominate him for County Recorder.

Texans To Discuss Claim

Was Dallas, Tex., Named For Yellow Creek Settler?

By GLENN WAIGHT

The possibility that Dallas, Tex., was named after a former Yellow Creek area pioneer is expected to be aired at a luncheon meeting of the Dallas Historical Society Thursday at the sprawling Hall of State there.

Harry Oyster of Glenmoor, a retired pottery office employe, gave some of the denizens of "Big D" a bit of excitement last month when he wrote to the mayor about a family story prevalent for many years.

Texas historians have long known that Dallas County was named after George Mifflin Dallas, vice president under James Polk, and who was a Philadelphian and onetime Pennsylvania senator.

But the experts—including John William Rogers, author and historian who recently published "The Lusty Texans of Dallas"—have not been certain about the origin of the name of the now bustling city of 700,000.

The site of Dallas was reportedly settled by John Neely Bryan around 1841, and the village was laid out in 1846. Bryan was a trader who came out of Tennessee.

Oyster decided a number of weeks ago to send a letter to officials of the city, relating a story about a letter from a man named Bryan to a member of the Dallas family, saying he had named a town after him in the new southwestern republic.

Oyster is not certain whether this would be Peter Dallas, his great-grandfather, or Lauchlan Dallas, his great-great grandfather, but says family history has it that Bryan was a friend of this man who is believed to have gone into the South.

The letter from Bryan in the family for over a century has been seen within the past decade, but efforts by Oyster to locate it have so far been in vain. Of Lauchlan Dallas, it is known only that he was born in Scotland and came to the United States probably around the early part of the 19th Century, and settled for a while in the Yellow Creek area — home of many Scotchmen of that time.

His son, Peter Dallas, served as postmaster at what is now Monroeville. Peter's son — Lauchlan C. Dallas — was postmaster at Salineville and served in the Civil War. He died in 1899, and is buried at Woodland Cemetery at Salineville.

It had been thought earlier that Bryan was a friend of Lauchlin C. Dallas, but research showed he was only 5 years old when Dallas was founded.

Oyster then remembered a letter in his possession sent to William McNicie of Yellow Creek in April 1841 from a friend in Scotland, referring to Lauchlan Dallas, apparently an adult.

Oyster's letter to Mayor R. L. Thornton was reported by Dallas newspapers, and Rogers, learning of it, wrote immediately to the Glenmoor man asking for more information. For the past several weeks the two men have been corresponding regularly, and Rogers has come to accept Oyster's theory.

In fact Rogers is to be the main speaker at the luncheon tomorrow, and is expected to relate the new account of the city's naming. The historical society invited Oyster to the meeting, but he will be unable to attend.

Oyster, 70, will probably be out on the golf links, for he is a true fan of the fairways. He came to East Liverpool from Salineville in 1909, attended Ohio Valley Business College and worked in the circulation department of the former Tribune — also serving for a while as Chester correspondent for the Review. He later went to Steubenville to become a circulation official on the Gazette.

Oyster later worked in the office of the Edwin M. Knowles China Co. for some 30 years, and went to Alliance during World War II for a job in a defense plant.

Oyster said he is interested in clarifying the Dallas naming only for historical accuracy, and plans to continue the search for the Bryan letter and for further information concerning the man for whom Dallas may have been named.

If you cover small white onions with boiling water and allow them to stand for several minutes, you'll probably find — after dipping them in cold water — that you can peel them without tears.

High Court Calls For Arguments On Proposed Charter

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP — The Ohio Supreme Court called for oral arguments today in a suit to require a special election on a proposed charter for the city of Warren. City Council had turned down the proposal.

Walter D. Graham, acting as a taxpayer, filed a mandamus action against Mayor Walter Pestrak, Service-Safety Director B. J. Bohl and members of Warren City Council to compel submission of the proposal to a popular vote.

Counsel for the officials claimed Graham's action failed to show any duty which they were required to perform.

Graham sought an order from the Supreme Court to order emergency approval of the charter by City Council and to order the mayor to rescind his veto of a measure for $5,500 in expenses for a charter commission and for Bohl to advertise for bids on printing copies of the proposal.

Data Expected Friday On City's 1960 Census

Final unofficial figures are expected to be available Friday on the 1960 Census in East Liverpool, Howard Borden of Steubenville, district supervisor, told Mayor Bert H. Goodballet Tuesday.

Earlier, Borden had expected to have a final figure by last weekend, but he explained to the mayor on the telephone yesterday that completion of the tally is awaiting receipt of a few returns in his office.

When the district office has completed the count on Columbiana County, the supervisor is authorized to release the totals to county commissioners and the mayors of any communities over 10,000 population, Borden explained to the mayor last week.

Car-Truck Collision Kills Stark Youth, 18

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—A pickup truck-auto collision Tuesday night was fatal to Raymond Shrock, 18, of Hartville (Stark County). It occurred on Ohio 8 just south of the Summit-Stark county line, the Highway Patrol reported.

The driver of the pickup truck, Vern Wagler, 26, of Greentown (Stark County) was reported in critical condition at Akron General Hospital. Another passenger was treated and released.

The patrol said the truck rolled over several times after striking the car a glancing blow in attempting to pass it as the auto was making a left turn. Driver of the car was unhurt.

Pupils At South Side Will Give Gym Show

Directed by the physical education teachers, Miss Angela Zonzos and David Nichol, the program will feature boys and girls from each grade through sixth, Carl Walcott, principal, said.

Nuclear Tests In Alaska Seen Leading To New Harbors

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Nuclear tests in a remote coastal area of Alaska could lead to atomic-created harbors and even a new Panama canal, says Dr. John Wolfe, Atomic Energy Commission scientist.

He made the prediction at a news conference on "Project Chariot."

Four nuclear devices equal to 260,000 tons of TNT would carve a key-shaped harbor near Point Hope on the Chukchi Sea—about 120 miles north of the Arctic Circle Wolfe said Tuesday.

The devices — the largest equal to 200,000 tons of TNT and farthest inland — would be buried 400 to 700 feet deep.

The planned result of the simultaneous explosions: a harbor 900 yards long, 200 to 300 yards wide and at least 60 feet deep. The keyhole shape would allow ships to turn around.

If the test proved successful, the method might be used to create canals as well as harbors.

Wolfe said the blast would displace 90 million cubic yards of rock and soil. Atom-blasting would cost 3 cents a cubic yard, compared with $2.50 a yard for present day excavation, he estimated.

Wolfe, a bontanist on leave from Ohio State University, said there would be very little fallout because in the underground explosion 95 per cent of the radioactivity would be contained in the earth. Radioactivity in the Chukchi Sea woud dissipate in three months, he said.

If plans are approved, Wolfe says, March 1962, is the earliest possible date for the project.

Wellsville VFW Post Plans Joint Installation

Plans for a joint installation with the auxiliary Saturday night were outlined at a meeting of Wellsville Veterans of Foreign Wars Post 5647 Tuesday night at the post home.

A buffet dinner will be served at 6:30. A dance will begin at 10 with music by Vince Mundy's orchestra.

Emmett Daniels, commander, presided. George Lawton, announced a city marble tournament will be held Saturday at 10 a. m. at Central Park. The winner will be entered in the district and state competition at Dover.

Daniels announced the post is to provide a color guard for the annual district Loyalty Day parade Sunday afternoon at East Palestine. Rep. Wayne L. Hays, 18th District congressman, will be principla speaker.

The next meeting will be May 10.

Marion Population Up

MARION, Ohio (AP) — Preliminary census figures show the population of the city of Marion to be 36,897, compared to 33,817 in the 1950 census—an increase of 3,080. The population of Marion County was listed as 59,845, up 9,886 since 1950. The figures are still subject to revision.

Juvenile Crime Film Shown Wellsville PTA

An hour-long movie of a juvenile court case of car theft was shown by Police Chief John Hephner at the meeting of Garfield Parent-Teacher Association Monday night in the Wellsville school.

He was assisted on the projector by Fire Chief Robert Lewis.

Mrs. Glenn Clark was elected president; Mrs. Claude Weekley, Mrs. Wilmer Ralston and Miss Margaret Frischkorn, principal, vice presidents; Mrs. Paul Campbell, secretary, and Mrs. Herbert Moore, treasurer. Mrs. Wanda Hanlon is the out-going president.

The group decided to furnish $150 worth of library books for the school and a candy sale was held. Installation of officers will be held May 16 at the final meeting of the school year.

Ex-Kentuckians Plan Motorcade Protest On Bonus

HAMILTON, Ohio (AP) — A group of former Kentuckians who say they want to take part in the state's new veterans' bonus, still plan a protest motorcade to Frankfort, Ky., next Saturday.

Gov. Bert Combs, who has met with veterans groups several times on the issue, has said he disapproves of the idea and won't be in Frankfort Saturday. He's going to Washington for a Democratic dinner.

And the president of the National Out-of-State Kentucky Veterans Organization which started here says its members have no part in the group or its plans for a motorcade.

Edward Hacker, the president, said his group was formed to fight for a bonus for out-of-state Kentuckians, but the group wants to keep the matter out of politics.

The Hacker organization's officers conferred with Combs several times, and won his promise to start a survey to see how much it would cost to give the bonus to out-of-state veterans.

Keep In Trim

By IDA JEAN KAIN

Sharing Strengthens Slimming Resolution

Sharing is enormously helpful to struggling overweights. The reducer who shared her spine stiffener—"Am I hungry enough to eat cold mush?" — has given her sister dieters a secret charm to use when confronted by temptation. A reducer writes:

By Ida Jean Kain

"I've tried so many different diets and exercises but it's always 'tomorrow I'll get back on the course.' Or, 'I'll just have a cookie or a small piece of cake.' Alas, a little always leads to more. . .and more. Although I would tell myself I was cheating and doing wrong, my hand would automatically be going to the bowl for more.

"Then I read about the woman who asked herself, 'Am I hungry enough to eat cold mush?' This challenge spurred me on to stick to just eating three moderate but adequate meals a day.

"OVER THE YEARS I have added an extra 45 pounds. I used to wear a size 9, which was loose, and went up to a size 14½ or a 16. The fact that even those sizes were getting too tight made me realize I was just hurting myself by overeating. I am determined not to 'graduate' to a still bigger size.

"For two weeks I have stuck to the diet plan and counted calories. It wasn't easy but today I weighed when I got up. . .and found the pointer on the scales down 7 pounds! The system obviously works.

"One thing I would like to say to your readers is that one piece—even a small one—of those delicacies you love so much is never enough. So, until you are free from the excess fat, don't take that first small piece.

"If you use any part of my story, please do not use my name because if my in-laws know I'm sticking to a diet they will try to get me to break it."

Fair enough, we will keep your identity a secret. Since you know the certain reaction from various members of your family, you are wise to diet and keep quiet. When you hear repeated remarks to the effect that you are just pleasingly plump, or that you are foolish to diet, such remarks, even though well meant, can undermine your diet resolutions. Unconsciously, some of the steam goes out of your drive.

PERHAPS, TOO, your dieting makes overweight members of the family feel uneasy, even guilty. They will go to great lengths to try to stop you from reducing.

What you want to hear is praise. The nearer you get to desirable weight, the more praise you will hear from your true friends.

Send a long, self - addressed, stamped envelope for "Hunger Control Diet." Address your request to Ida Jean Kain, in care of this newspaper. Postcard requests cannot be answered.

Five In Family Escape Injury As Car Takes Plunge

CARTHAGE, Mo. (AP) — Five members of a Sandusky, Ohio, family were sleeping in their car when it plunged into Spring River Tuesday, but no one was injured.

Officials said Vinson H. Kilbourne, 23, parked the car near a boat launch site at a Highway roadside park in Carthage. Kilbourne and his wife Mary, 23, were in the front seat, and their three children—Debbie, 4, Robert, 2, and Michael, 3 months—were in the back seat when the family went to sleep.

The temperature dropped and Kilbourne started the motor to operate the heater. Through some movement in their sleep, either Kilbourne or his wife pushed the gear shift. The vehicle lunged forward, made a semi-circle and went into the river.

Mr. and Mrs. Kilbourne escaped from the car and rescued their children.

Writers Guild To Sift TV Companies' Offers

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The Writers Guild of America will consider offers Thursday by seven television film companies to end a three-month-old writers' strike.

The strike began Jan. 16 and involves 3,000 writers.

Payola Probe Calls Experts

WASHINGTON (AP) — House payola investigators summoned three statistical specialists today to report their own interpretation of an analytical study of Dick Clark's TV disc jockey show.

The study, made for Clark by a New York statistical firm, reported that Clark could have had a personal financial interest in 27 per cent of the songs played on his matinee music show. By implication, it showed he had no personal interest in 73 per cent of the songs he used.

Rep. John E. Moss (D-Calif) promptly challenged the survey results, calling them misleading and incomplete.

"We have asked these three experts to analyze the study," Robert W. Lishman, chief counsel of the Legislative Oversight subcommittee, told a reporter.

Lishman implied Tuesday that Clark, the nation's best known disc jockey, has dished out payola to other deejays to promote records in which he has a personal financial stake.

Lishman raised this point in asking Thomas Noonan, research director for Billboard magazine, what weight is given to Clark in compiling the trade publication's weekly ratings of the top 100 hit tunes.

Motorist Files For New Trial

Donald C. Rockhold of Shadyside Ave. filed a motion in Municipal Court Tuesday, seeking a new trial on two alleged traffic offenses on which he was fined a total of $65 and costs and given a 15-day license suspension Monday.

The motion, filed by Atty. Lawrence W. Smith Jr., defense counsel, asked Judge Samuel M. Chertoff to grant a new hearing "for the reason that the judgment rendered in said cases is against the manifest weight of the evidence and not according to law."

Judge Chertoff said Atty. Smith will consult with Asst. Solicitor Richard J. Clark, the prosecutor, to set a mutually agreeable date for presentation of arguments on the motion.

Rockhold, who pleaded not guilty, was convicted of reckless operation and driving with improper license plates. He was arrested Friday by Constable Clifford Owens.

Chester Marine, 2 Others Held In Robbery In Italy

A former Chester youth is among three Marines facing charges by police at Genoa, Italy, with the beating and robbing of an Italian woman while on shore leave a week ago.

Italian National Police Lt. Antonio Calabrese named the trio as Lester Bowen, 19, of Chester, aboard the ship Suffolk; Robert Wieszchowski, no address known, of the San Marco, and Rowald Carter, 19, of Germantown, N. Y., aboard the Pocono.

Calabrese said it would be up to the Italian state attorney to decide whether to let the three be tried by U. S. military courts or to ask for their extradition to stand trial in Italian courts.

The Marines were accused of accosting and beating Ermanna Croesi in a Genoa street. Her jaw was fractured. She told police they fled with her pocketbook containing 30,000 lire about $50.

City Autoist Forfeits In Collision At Lisbon

Ernest E. Hawthorne, 42, of 264 W. 9th St., East Liverpool, was cited following a collision in Lisbon Tuesday at 11:45 a. m., according to Police Chief Dalton Pike.

Hawthorne ran into the rear of the car of Herman Miller, 48, of Salineville, who had stopped for a traffic signal. Damage was reported to the front of Hawthorne's car and the rear of the Miller vehicle.

Hawthorne was charged with reckless operation and forfeited $10 bond in Mayor Dean Stockman's Court when he failed to appear for a hearing last night.

Crash Shakes 3 Passengers

Two West Virginia youngsters and a woman received minor injuries in a collision of 2 cars on Route 30 at Rock Camp Tuesday at 6:45 p. m., the State Highway Patrol at Lisbon reported.

A car driven by William Brownfield, 20, of Lisbon R. D. 4, headed north on Route 30, made a left turn toward the Y. & O. Rd. into the path of an approaching auto operated by Darrell Collins, 33, of Westover, W. Va.

Danny Collins, 5, and Donna Collins, 4, of Westover suffered bruises of the eyes and Ella Mae Austin, 26, of Westover received a possible fracture of the left toe. Passengers in Collins' car, they declined medical attention, saying they would see a physician when they reached home.

Damage to the cars was minor, the patrol said. Brownfield was charged with failure to yield the right-of-way.

Rotary Given Example Of 'Generalizing Talk'

Burbick generalized for 20 minutes in proving his point that a person could talk for a fairly long period on nothing specific. The topic was "Something About Nothing."

He is operator of the Burbick Hardware Store and a member of the club. He was introduced by Charles D. Taylor, president, who presided. Sam Pollock of Steubenville, past district governor, was a guest.

Blankets that are being washed should be soaked, rather than agitated to remove dirt. Agitation sometimes causes blanket shrinkage.

5 Autos Damaged In Local Mishaps

Five autos were damaged in a series of three minor traffic mishaps Tuesday afternoon and night, police reported.

A collision on Walnut St. at E. 5th St. at 7:17 p. m. damaged a 1958 sedan driven by Harold P. Harris, 48, of Chester R. D. 1 and a 1957 two-door sedan operated by David H. McPherson, 26, of 108 1st St., Chester, officers said.

Autos operated by Charles W. Barnhart, 64, of 1174 Lisbon St. and Elmer C. Reibold, 60, of Iris Ave. were damaged in a collision at 3:20 p. m. at W. 4th St. and Persimmon Alley, police said.

A collision on Pennsylvania Ave. 100 feet east of Oakland Ave. at 3:05 p. m. involved cars driven by Albert W. Petties, 25, of 66-E, Midland Heights, and Kervin C. Miller, 52, of Gerrardstown, W. Va., police said. The right rear fender of the Petties car was damaged, but there was no damage to Miller's auto, officers said.

Quota Inducts New Officers

Miss Justine Miller was inducted as president for a second term by Mrs. Lucille King of Akron, governor of the 6th District.

Miss Phyllis Crook, first vice president; Mrs. Edna Jones, second vice president; Mrs. Eleanor Boice, recording secretary; Mrs. Jane Jolly, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Erma McGarey, treasurer, and Dr. Edith Gilmore, Mrs. Mildred McKim, Mrs. Laura Reinacher and Mrs. Janet O'Hara, directors.

They were installed jointly with the Salem club's officers.

Mrs. Lucille Campbell of Chester was initiated as a new member.

Mrs. Mary McCullough of East Liverpool and Mrs. Winifred Bowers of Salem screened color slides of the Quota tour last summer in Europe.

Miss Greta Barrow of Cleveland, Lieutenant governor of the 6th District, was a guest along with other members of the Akron and Cleveland clubs.

Of the 61 in attendance, 23 were from East Liverpool.

The club's colors of blue and silver were used in the theme for the table decorations with blue carnations and silver leaves predominating. Favors were ballpoint pens and coin purses.

A luncheon meeting will be held May 10 at the Travelers Hotel.

Lightning Kills Man

GIRARD, Ohio (AP)—Lightning struck and killed Benjamin Richardson, 35, of Girard, in a thunderstorm here Tuesday. Richardson, father of six, was hit by the bolt as he walked to the rear of a sandstone-filled truck he was driving.

Elevated From Sales Post.

Sterling Names J. W. Batey Jr. Vice President

James W. Batey Jr., former assistant sales manager for the Sterling China Co. has been appointed vice president.

In a joint announcement, William T. Pomeroy, president, and E. K. Koos, executive vice president, cited Batey's 14 years with the Wellsville pottery and the business respect which he commands throughout the industry.

"Jim" Batey, as he is known by his business associates, is one of the originators of the Sterling Vogue Collection — a highly successful "in stock for immediate delivery" plan of merchandising hotel and restaurant china.

Batey is married, has two children, and has been a life-long resident of East Liverpool, Ohio. The family resides on Hill Blvd.

Pomeroy added that there are no other changes in company officers. Gordon A. Weese is sales manager.

Motorist Files For New Trial

Donald C. Rockhold of Shadyside Ave. filed a motion in Municipal Court Tuesday, seeking a new trial on two alleged traffic offenses on which he was fined a total of $65 and costs and given a 15-day license suspension Monday.

The motion, filed by Atty. Lawrence W. Smith Jr., defense counsel, asked Judge Samuel M. Chertoff to grant a new hearing "for the reason that the judgment rendered in said cases is against the manifest weight of the evidence and not according to law."

Judge Chertoff said Atty. Smith will consult with Asst. Solicitor Richard J. Clark, the prosecutor, to set a mutually agreeable date for presentation of arguments on the motion.

Rockhold, who pleaded not guilty, was convicted of reckless operation and driving with improper license plates. He was arrested Friday by Constable Clifford Owens.

Road-E-O Event Set May 14 At Palestine

Gary Doran and Dale Beight are co-chairmen of the event, which will be preceded by a written examination. Plaques and cash prizes will be awarded, including $25 for the top boy and girl.

Chester Marine, 2 Others Held In Robbery In Italy

A former Chester youth is among three Marines facing charges by police at Genoa, Italy, with the beating and robbing of an Italian woman while on shore leave a week ago.

Italian National Police Lt. Antonio Calabrese named the trio as Lester Bowen, 19, of Chester, aboard the ship Suffolk; Robert Wieszchowski, no address known, of the San Marco, and Rowald Carter, 19, of Germantown, N. Y., aboard the Pocono.

Calabrese said it would be up to the Italian state attorney to decide whether to let the three be tried by U. S. military courts or to ask for their extradition to stand trial in Italian courts.

The Marines were accused of accosting and beating Ermanna Croesi in a Genoa street. Her jaw was fractured. She told police they fled with her pocketbook containing 30,000 lire about $50.

City Autoist Forfeits In Collision At Lisbon

Ernest E. Hawthorne, 42, of 264 W. 9th St., East Liverpool, was cited following a collision in Lisbon Tuesday at 11:45 a. m., according to Police Chief Dalton Pike.

Hawthorne ran into the rear of the car of Herman Miller, 48, of Salineville, who had stopped for a traffic signal. Damage was reported to the front of Hawthorne's car and the rear of the Miller vehicle.

Hawthorne was charged with reckless operation and forfeited $10 bond in Mayor Dean Stockman's Court when he failed to appear for a hearing last night.

Crash Shakes 3 Passengers

Two West Virginia youngsters and a woman received minor injuries in a collision of 2 cars on Route 30 at Rock Camp Tuesday at 6:45 p. m., the State Highway Patrol at Lisbon reported.

A car driven by William Brownfield, 20, of Lisbon R. D. 4, headed north on Route 30, made a left turn toward the Y. & O. Rd. into the path of an approaching auto operated by Darrell Collins, 33, of Westover, W. Va.

Danny Collins, 5, and Donna Collins, 4, of Westover suffered bruises of the eyes and Ella Mae Austin, 26, of Westover received a possible fracture of the left toe. Passengers in Collins' car, they declined medical attention, saying they would see a physician when they reached home.

Damage to the cars was minor, the patrol said. Brownfield was charged with failure to yield the right-of-way.

Rotary Given Example Of 'Generalizing Talk'

Burbick generalized for 20 minutes in proving his point that a person could talk for a fairly long period on nothing specific. The topic was "Something About Nothing."

He is operator of the Burbick Hardware Store and a member of the club. He was introduced by Charles D. Taylor, president, who presided. Sam Pollock of Steubenville, past district governor, was a guest.

Blankets that are being washed should be soaked, rather than agitated to remove dirt. Agitation sometimes causes blanket shrinkage.

5 Autos Damaged In Local Mishaps

Five autos were damaged in a series of three minor traffic mishaps Tuesday afternoon and night, police reported.

A collision on Walnut St. at E. 5th St. at 7:17 p. m. damaged a 1958 sedan driven by Harold P. Harris, 48, of Chester R. D. 1 and a 1957 two-door sedan operated by David H. McPherson, 26, of 108 1st St., Chester, officers said.

Autos operated by Charles W. Barnhart, 64, of 1174 Lisbon St. and Elmer C. Reibold, 60, of Iris Ave. were damaged in a collission at 3:20 p. m. at W. 4th St. and Persimmon Alley, police said.

A collision on Pennsylvania Ave. 100 feet east of Oakland Ave. at 3:05 p. m. involved cars driven by Albert W. Petties, 25, of 66-E, Midland Heights, and Kervin C. Miller, 52, of Gerrardstown, W. Va., police said. The right rear fender of the Petties car was damaged, but there was no damage to Miller's auto, officers said.

U.S. Planning To Hit Moon With Space Object In 2 Years

WASHINGTON (AP) — Within two years the United States plans to hit the moon with a 500-pound space package—something the Soviets accomplished last year.

The American moon shot, as now projected, will have these differences:

1. The package that smashes on the moon's surface will have television cameras grinding away until the last instant, which should produce extreme closeup views of the moon.

2. The rocket also will carry a 300-pound piggyback package of instruments that will break loose and make a softer landing on the moon. These instruments, it is hoped, will survive the landing and radio back important information about the earth's only natural satellite.

Soviet scientists last Sept. 13 made a bullseye on the moon with Lunik II, an 860-pound spacecraft. This vehicle had no cameras, and was destroyed by the impact.

Then on Oct. 6 the Soviets photographed the hidden backside of the moon with Lunik III, which sent the pictures back to earth and later went into orbit around the sun. That vehicle weighed 614 pounds.

The U.S. moon plan, announced Tuesday by the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, feats. Together the packages would weigh about 800 pounds. If the soft instrument landing works it could be the first time man has sent a machine to the moon that would continue to function after landing.

On Half-Day Shifts

LORAIN, Ohio (AP) — Some 3,100 production workers at the Ford Motor Co.'s assembly plant here went on four-hour, half-day shifts today with numerous layoffs possible starting Thursday. The slowdown is caused by a strike at a Ford plant in Indianapolis which produces steering gear assemblies for the compact - car division of the Lorain plant. Production workers here had been on 10-hour shifts. The plant employs about 4,300 persons.

Singing Group Waits Contest

The East Liverpool Chapter Chorus of the Society for the Preservation and Encouragement of Barbershop Quartet Singing in America will compete with similar groups from four states May 22 at Mt. Vernon.

The chorus advanced to the new competition after winning the Area 11 championship Monday night at Toronto. At Mt. Vernon, it will compete with choruses from Pennsylvania, Ohio, West Virginia and part of Maryland.

The chorus contest formerly was held at the Ohio State Fairground in Columbus. Bill Brooks, a member of the Colonials Quartet, is chorus director.

The chapter's recently-elected new officers will be installed at a meeting Monday night in Carpenters Hall.

Plans also will be made for the trip to Mt. Vernon.

Pleads Innocent

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—James R. Buck, 22, pleaded innocent to a first-degree murder charge in Common Pleas Court Tuesday. He is charged with the fatal shooting of Patrolman Floyd Weatherholt Jr., 23, following the burglary of a camera shop March 25.

Euclid Father Is Charged With Slaying Daughter

CLEVELAND (AP)—Walter W. Brass, 40, of suburban Euclid, is charged with first-degree murder for the hammer slaying Tuesday of his 3-year-old daughter.

Police said Brass tried three times to kill himself before he attacked his family.

A daughter, Janet, died while undergoing emergency surgery. His wife, Lillian, 36; a son, William, 8, and a daughter, Linda, 6, were in fair condition. Another daughter, Gail, 18 months, was in critical condition.

Brass' preliminary hearing will be conducted next week in Euclid Municipal Court, said Police Prosecutor Arthur L. Leppert.

Neighbors said Brass had been under great strain since last December when he decided to sell a one-third interest in the auto parts firm he owns with two brothers.

Police said they were unable to get a statement from Brass.

Traffic Meeting Set

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Highway Safety Department will hold a statewide meeting May 12 to discuss safety planning for holiday and summer traffic. J. Housing Bill Facing Major Test In House

WASHINGTON (AP) — A billion-dollar housing bill backed by Democrats faced a major House test today against the combined opposition of Republicans and Southern Democrats.

The coalition was making a determined effort to kill the bill quickly in an initial test on the question of whether the House will consider it. Their chances on the first test appeared doubtful.

A final vote was tentatively scheduled for Thursday.

If the bill isn't sharply watered down before then its chances of becoming law appeared dim.

"It will never become law in its present form," said Republican Leader Charles A. Halleck of Indiana, predicting a veto that could be sustained.

Housing Bill Facing Major Test In House

WASHINGTON (AP) — A billion-dollar housing bill backed by Democrats faced a major House test today against the combined opposition of Republicans and Southern Democrats.

The coalition was making a determined effort to kill the bill quickly in an initial test on the question of whether the House will consider it. Their chances on the first test appeared doubtful.

A final vote was tentatively scheduled for Thursday.

If the bill isn't sharply watered down before then its chances of becoming law appeared dim.

"It will never become law in its present form," said Republican Leader Charles A. Halleck of Indiana, predicting a veto that could be sustained.

Cardinal Mercier Assembly To Lead District Degree Rites

Officers of Cardinal Mercier General Assembly, Fourth Degree Knights of Columbus, will be in charge of degree work at an Eastern Ohio District exemplification Sunday at the St. Francis Hotel in Canton.

They include: Fr. William J. Lawler, formerly of Wellsville and now pastor of St. Pius X Church at Warren, John E. Johnston, district master; Frank R. O'Hanlon, faithful navigator of the local assembly, James McGowan, William J. Bamer and Atty. Lawrence W. Smith Jr., all of East Liverpool, and Fred Baldasarre of Wellsville.

The district marshal will be George Saba of Alliance, a former Marine Corps officer. His assistant will be Francis Cannon of Warren.

Cardinal Mercier Assembly expects to send a delegation of 50 or more to the all-day program. A class of 100 candidates is expected from the 12 assemblies of the Fourth Degree order in the Youngstown Diocese, stretching from the Ohio River to Lake Erie.

The day's program will open when candidates and members in full regalia attend the 10 a. m. Mass at St. John's Church in Canton. They will march from the hotels at 9:15, headed by the Ursuline High School Band of Youngstown.

The initiation will begin at 1:30 in the St. Francis Hotel. A banquet will be held at 7 at the Onesto, followed by a dance. Five hundred are expected at the banquet.

A women's reception for wives and friends of candidates and members will be held Sunday afternoon at the Onesto. The women will attend a matinee performance of the Lennen Sisters — singers with the Lawrence Welk Orchestra — who will make three appearances in Canton Sunday for the benefit of the Bishop's Fund.

Most members of the East Liverpool area delegation will leave Saturday night to attend an informal program planned by Cantor Kaycees.

Grange Plans Supper At Hall At Pughtown

Plans for a public 10-cent supper Saturday night at the Pughtown Grange Hall were made at a meeting of the Fairview Grange Tuesday night.

The dinner will be held from 5 to 7 p. m. to raise funds for Grange projects.

The group authorized sponsorship of James and Sandra Plimpton to the Hancock County Conservation Camp in June. Mrs. Harley Ferguson, lecturer, reported the officers of the national Grange have been moved into the new Washington building.

Mrs. Robert Parkins played a piano solo and Mrs. Charles Mills and Mrs. Beulah Cupp presented a comedy skit. Lunch was served 37 by Mrs. Mills and committee. Guests attended from Goodwill and Buffalo Granges.

Immunizations Slated Today For Salineville

LISBON — Polio and other immunizations were slated today at the Salineville School by the Columbiana County Health Department, according to Dr. C. S. Palmer, county health commissioner.

Tuesday at the Leetonia school, the staff gave 10 immunizations, 5 vaccinations and 5 polio shots to pre-school children and 27 immunizations and 19 polio shots to students.

At the St. Patrick's Parochial School at Leetonia, the staff gave 2 immunizations, 2 polio shots and one vaccination to pre-school age children and 9 polio shots and 4 immunizations to students.

State Aid Set For Retarded

State approval of a special retarded children's class at Lisbon was reported by Robert Bycroft, Columbiana County welfare director, at a meeting of the county Retarded Children's Council Tuesday night at Lisbon.

Bycroft said state funds will now be available for the class—the third in the county to achieve approval. The class has eight pupils this year.

Bycroft also said the three teachers and three station wagon drivers of the county classes are now under the jurisdiction of the welfare department and are entitled to such benefits as retirement pay and unemployment compensation.

About 24 attended the meeting at the Lions Club House at which Mrs. Edith Martsolf of East Palestine reported on the convention of the Ohio Retarded Children's Association at Columbus over the weekend.

Plans were discussed for the annual fund drive late in July and for a proposed centralized location for the classes.

Mrs. Robert Starbuck of Salem reported on a volunteer nursery class at Salem, and invited members to a meeting May 12 at the Westminster House at Salem to inspect the class.

Don Mackey, president, was in charge. The next meeting will be May 31 at Salem when Leonard Kirtz of Youngstown, treasurer of the state association, is expected to speak.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Hugh Paugh, 19, of Columbus was charged with driving left of center in an accident which injured him and Highway Patrol Capt. James Hanley, 54, of Westerville. Capt. Hanley, commander of the patrol's training school, was treated for face and leg cuts and possible chest injuries. Paugh, not seriously hurt, allegedly swerved to pass a motor scooter and hit Hanley's unmarked patrol car Tuesday, officials said.

Delaware, on Dec. 7, 1787, was the first of America's original 13 Colonies to enter the Union by ratifying the Constitution.

Methodist Conference Opens With Racial Policy An Issue

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
Associated Press Religion Writer

DENVER (AP) — Methodists convened here today, worried lest they lose their common touch.

The occasion is the opening of their quadrennial general conference, supreme governing body of the nation's largest Protestant denomination. It faced some keen tensions. Specifically, the church's racial policies posed a major issue.

But generally, as the 800 voting delegates and an estimated 3,000 visitors assembled, the broader question was whether the church is developing class lines, apart from the humble and ordinary masses.

The Rev. Dr. Walter G. Muelder, dean of Boston University's School of Theology, has put the concern this way: "Because of its middle-class character as well as its racial ineptness, Methodism is losing proportionately among the working class."

This is an unusual problem for a church that originated as a movement to bring religion to the poor and to laborers.

However, it has been pointed up repeatedly lately by Methodist leaders and publications.

A survey has shown that the average present-day Methodist is middle-class, white, in the professional bracket, with income exceeding $5,329 annually, higher than half the wage-earners in the country.

The 10-million-member denomination also has become a financially imposing, multimillion-dollar institution with 40,000 churches dotting the nation, many of them great, impressive structures.

As the 14-day policy-making conference launched its efforts to make the church more meaningful to more people, the most sharply defined issue was over the place of its Negro members.

50 At Opening Session Of Missionary Group

About 50 representatives from churches in Pennsylvania and Northeastern Ohio attended the first session of a three-day conference of the Sandusky Branch of the Women's Missionary Associations Tuesday night at the Pleasant Heights United Brethren In Christ Church. The Rev. Pauline Stephens is the host pastor.

A fellowship dinner will be held tonight at 6 at Kennedy's Restaurant on Route 30. At 7:30, services will be conducted by Rev. and Mrs. Jerry Datema, missionaries on furlough from Africa.

Thursday morning, a business meeting will be conducted by Mrs. Leona Flick, president of the branch. The session will adjourn about noon.

Fire Brought To Them

PORT BYRON, N.Y. (AP) — Fireman had a fire brought to them Tuesday with the aid of radio, telephone, and telegraph. A resident noticed that a journal box was on fire on a New York Central Railroad freight train. He telephoned firemen. They radioed the train-dispatcher who telegraphed the train to back up three-quarters of a mile to the waiting firemen.

Religious Phase Of Laws Traced In Kiwanis Talk

The rooting of our present law system in the moral principles of religion was traced by Atty. A. J. Rosenshine of Weirton in a discussion on observance of "Law Day" at a meeting of the Chester Kiwanis Club Tuesday night.

Atty. Rosenshine said, "Although the law is not an absolute moral science, our system of justice is rooted deeply in religious principles and traditions, and much of the statutory law had its genesis in moral law."

He referred to the Ten Commandments, and the exhortations throughout the Bible for citizens to follow the law.

The attorney called for increased respect for the law in order to enable the nation to "grow in moral strength as it grows in population, resources and world leadership."

"Let us rededicate ourselves to freedom for the individual under just laws, administered by independent courts, and we thus shall emphasize before the world the contrast between the rule of law in the United States and the rule of force and fear under totalitarian systems," he concluded.

He was introduced by Atty. William Conklin, president of the Hancock County Bar Association.

A minute of silence was observed in memory of the late Dr. R. D. Watkins, former member, and the late Harold Gregory, principal of Wells High School who died Tuesday.

Robert Gray of Chester was a guest. Alvin Fineman, first vice president, was in charge.

American To Fight British Extradition

HAVANA (AP) — One of two American desperadoes wanted for the slaying of a Florida skipper in the Bahamas says he will fight British attempts to extradite him.

Newsmen learned this Tuesday night from Alvin Table Jr., 25, of Torrance, Calif., and William Sees, 23, of Etowah, Ark., held by Cuban authorities.

The Cuban navy seized the pair 200 miles east of Havana where they had fled in the slain skipper's charter cruiser after the shooting Sunday.

Methodist Conference Opens With Racial Policy An Issue

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
Associated Press Religion Writer

DENVER (AP) — Methodists convened here today, worried lest they lose their common touch.

The occasion is the opening of their quadrennial general conference, supreme governing body of the nation's largest Protestant denomination. It faced some keen tensions. Specifically, the church's racial policies posed a major issue.

But generally, as the 800 voting delegates and an estimated 5,000 visitors assembled, the broader question was whether the church is developing class lines, apart from the humble and ordinary masses.

The Rev. Dr. Walter G. Muelder, dean of Boston University's School of Theology, has put the concern this way: "Because of its middle-class character as well as its racial ineptness, Methodism is losing proportionately among the working class."

This is an unusual problem for a church that originated as a movement to bring religion to the poor and to laborers.

However, it has been pointed up repeatedly lately by Methodist leaders and publications.

A survey has shown that the average present-day Methodist is middle-class, white, in the professional bracket, with income exceeding $5,329 annually, higher than half the wage-earners in the country.

The 10-million-member denomination also has become a financially imposing, multimillion-dollar institution with 40,000 churches dotting the nation, many of them great, impressive structures.

As the 14-day policy-making conference launched its efforts to make the church more meaningful to more people, the most sharply defined issue was over the place of its Negro members.

50 At Opening Session Of Missionary Group

About 50 representatives from churches in Pennsylvania and Northeastern Ohio attended the first session of a three-day conference of the Sandusky Branch of the Women's Missionary Associations Tuesday night at the Pleasant Heights United Brethren In Christ Church. The Rev. Pauline Stephens is the host pastor.

A fellowship dinner will be held tonight at 6 at Kennedy's Restaurant on Route 30. At 7:30, services will be conducted by Rev. and Mrs. Jerry Datema, missionaries on furlough from Africa.

Thursday morning, a business meeting will be conducted by Mrs. Leona Flick, president of the branch. The session will adjourn about noon.

Fire Brought To Them

PORT BYRON, N.Y. (AP) — Fireman had a fire brought to them Tuesday with the aid of radio, telephone, and telegraph. A resident noticed that a journal box was on fire on a New York Central Railroad freight train. He telephoned firemen. They radioed the train-dispatcher who telegraphed the train to back up three-quarters of a mile to the waiting firemen.

Religious Phase Of Laws Traced In Kiwanis Talk

The rooting of our present law system in the moral principles of religion was traced by Atty. A. J. Rosenshine of Weirton in a discussion on observance of "Law Day" at a meeting of the Chester Kiwanis Club Tuesday night.

Atty. Rosenshine said, "Although the law is not an absolute moral science, our system of justice is rooted deeply in religious principles and traditions, and much of the statutory law had its genesis in moral law."

He referred to the Ten Commandments, and the exhortations throughout the Bible for citizens to follow the law.

The attorney called for increased respect for the law in order to enable the nation to "grow in moral strength as it grows in population, resources and world leadership."

"Let us rededicate ourselves to freedom for the individual under just laws, administered by independent courts, and we thus shall emphasize before the world the contrast between the rule of law in the United States and the rule of force and fear under totalitarian systems," he concluded.

He was introduced by Atty. William Conklin, president of the Hancock County Bar Association.

A minute of silence was observed in memory of the late Dr. R. D. Watkins, former member, and the late Harold Gregory, principal of Wells High School who died Tuesday.

Robert Gray of Chester was a guest. Alvin Fineman, first vice president, was in charge.

Hawkins Defeats Detroit For First Major League Victory

Snaps Tigers' Win String At Five Contests

DETROIT (AP) — Pre - season dopesters said the Cleveland Indians' staff of young pitchers would be the team's weakness this year, but Manager Joe Gordon says he's not worried about the pitching.

"Everyone worried last year, too, and it turned out all right," he said here Tuesday before the Indians beat the Detroit Tigers, 2-1, in 12 innings. "Our pitching is even better this year . . .

"With the possible exception of Detroit, I'd say we have the best pitching in the league right now."

In six games thus far the opposition has scored 21 runs against Cleveland pitchers, while Detroit hurlers have permitted 19 runs in the same number of games.

Gordon had more cause for optimism about the Tribe pitching following Tuesday's magnificant performance by rookie Wynn Hawkins. The 24-year-old righthander gave up only five hits in 11 innings and struck out six batters in gaining his first major league victory.

The only run scored against Hawkins, who was beaten by Kansas City in his first big league start last Friday, was unearned.

The victory was the second straight for the Indians after they lost their first four games. The loss was Detroit's first in six games.

A single by Vic Power drove in the tie-breaking run in the 12th and then Jim Perry blanked the Tigers in the home half of the inning to preserve Hawkins' victory.

The Indians scored a run in the sixth on a single by Power, a sacrifice by Jim Piersall and a single by John Temple. It was Temple's first run batted in this season.

Detroit tied the score in the seventh, when Eddie Yost led off with a walk, moved to third on two infield outs and scored when third baseman Bubba Phillips threw wild to first base after making a fine stop of Al Kaline's sharp grounder.

Jim Bunning, Detroit starter who yielded only six hits in 10 innings, tired and was replaced by Dave Sisler in the 11th. Sisler retired the Indians in order in that inning, but was sent to the showers after walking Russ Nixon on four pitches to open the 12th. Tom Morgan, who had won two games in relief, took over.

ELHS Thinclads Win Second Meet By Measuring Wellsville 73 To 45

East Liverpool put away its second straight track victory of the season by handing invading Wellsville a 73-45 setback Tuesday on the cinders at Patterson Field.

There were no records set but the Potters won 10 of the 14 events and showed up especially strong in the running.

Bob Mackall again was the individual star for the Potters by winning three events and anchoring the 880-yard relay team to its second victory.

Mackall, who set a school record in the Potters opening meet last week against Beaver Local, was timed in 10.2 for the 100-yard dash yesterday.

He came back to win the 220-yard-dash in 23.1 and finished up in the broad jumping pit with a leap of 19 feet.

Bob Christen, Potter hurdler, also stood out for Coach Bob Hedmond's team Tuesday.

Christen stepped over the 120-yard highs in 17 flat, took the 180-yard lows in 22.1, placed third in the broad jump and ran a leg of the half-mile relay.

Wellsville's high jumping star, Bob Kiggans, remained undefeated in his favorite event by leaping 5 feet, 5 inches to come out on top.

Other firsts for Wellsville were taken by Jackson with a heave of 42 feet in the shot put, while Phil Baldwin picked up the first place ribbon in the half-mile with a clocking of 2:15.6, and Pearson won the discus with a toss of 98 feet, 7 inches.

Both of East Liverpool's relay teams won. The 880 team was clocked in 1:39 and the mile relay in 3:51.8.

The Potters will participate in the Bellaire Relays Saturday.

100-Yd. Dash — Mackall (EL), Brown (W), Peterson (W). Time—10.2.

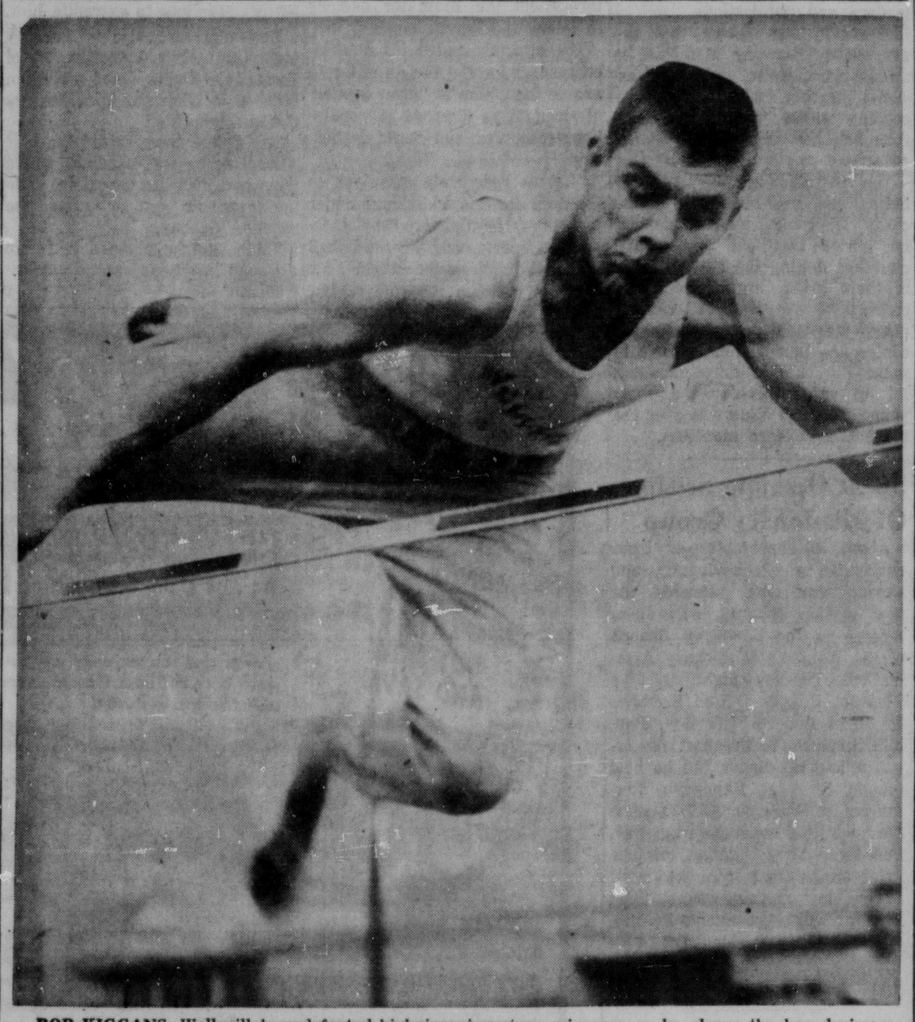
Pole Vault — Douglas (EL), Tipton (W), and Williams (EL) tied for second. Height—9 feet.

High Jump—Kiggans (W), Goodman (EL) and Williams (EL) tied. Height 5 feet, 5 inches.

Broad Jump — Mackall (EL), Brown (W), Christen (EL). Distance—19 feet.



BOB KIGGANS, Wellsville's undefeated high jumping star, grimaces as he clears the bar during a jump Tuesday at Patterson Field when East Liverpool and Wellsville clashed in a dual meet. Kiggans won the event with a jump of 5 feet, 5 inches.

10 Race Horses Killed In Blaze At Beulah Park

Five horses were saved before flames leveled Barn No. 5, track officials said.

The barn was occupied by horses trained by John Johnson Jr. and William Brady. Beulah Park now is the scene of a 44-day running meet.

Cause of the fire was not determined. A Pinkerton Detective Agency man making a routine check of the track barns had just passed Barn No. 5 when he heard a noise and turned to look back. Then he saw a big ball of flame in the middle of the long barn. He sounded the alarm.

Putt And Putter Lead EL Golfers To 3rd Win

Sophomore Bob Putt turned in the best round of his young career in firing a two under-part 34 as East Liverpool High's golf team whipped Columbiana and Beaver Local in a triangular match Tuesday afternoon at the Country Club.

Putt, a pint-sized 120 - pounder, weilded a blazing putter to capture low medalist honors as the Potters won their third match of the season.

He sank three 25-footers with two dropping in for pars and another for a birdie.

The final score gave East Liverpool 8 points, Columbiana and Beaver Local failed to score.

Craig Burbick, the Potter senior, shot a 36 for par, while Rick Crable carded a 38 and Sam Hughes a 40.

Hawkins Defeats Detroit For First Major League Victory

Snaps Tigers' Win String At Five Contests

DETROIT (AP) — Pre - season dopesters said the Cleveland Indians' staff of young pitchers would be the team's weakness this year, but Manager Joe Gordon says he's not worried about the pitching.

"Everyone worried last year, too, and it turned out all right," he said here Tuesday before the Indians beat the Detroit Tigers, 2-1, in 12 innings. "Our pitching is even better this year . . .

"With the possible exception of Detroit, I'd say we have the best pitching in the league right now."

In six games thus far the opposition has scored 21 runs against Cleveland pitchers, while Detroit hurlers have permitted 19 runs in the same number of games.

Gordon had more cause for optimism about the Tribe pitching following Tuesday's magnificant performance by rookie Wynn Hawkins. The 24-year-old righthander gave up only five hits in 11 innings and struck out six batters in gaining his first major league victory.

The only run scored against Hawkins, who was beaten by Kansas City in his first big league start last Friday, was unearned.

The victory was the second straight for the Indians after they lost their first four games. The loss was Detroit's first in six games.

A single by Vic Power drove in the tie-breaking run in the 12th and then Jim Perry blanked the Tigers in the home half of the inning to preserve Hawkins' victory.

The Indians scored a run in the sixth on a single by Power, a sacrifice by Jim Piersall and a single by John Temple. It was Temple's first run batted in this season.

Detroit tied the score in the seventh, when Eddie Yost led off with a walk, moved to third on two infield outs and scored when third baseman Bubba Phillips threw wild to first base after making a fine stop of Al Kaline's sharp grounder.

Jim Bunning, Detroit starter who yielded only six hits in 10 innings, tired and was replaced by Dave Sisler in the 11th. Sisler retired the Indians in order in that inning, but was sent to the showers after walking Russ Nixon on four pitches to open the 12th. Tom Morgan, who had won two games in relief, took over.

ELHS Thinclads Win Second Meet By Measuring Wellsville 73 To 45

East Liverpool put away its second straight track victory of the season by handing invading Wellsville a 73-45 setback Tuesday on the cinders at Patterson Field.

There were no records set but the Potters won 10 of the 14 events and showed up especially strong in the running.

Bob Mackall again was the individual star for the Potters by winning three events and anchoring the 880-yard relay team to its second victory.

Mackall, who set a school record in the Potters opening meet last week against Beaver Local, was timed in 10.2 for the 100-yard dash yesterday.

He came back to win the 220-yard-dash in 23.1 and finished up in the broad jumping pit with a leap of 19 feet.

Bob Christen, Potter hurdler, also stood out for Coach Bob Hedmond's team Tuesday.

Christen stepped over the 120-yard highs in 17 flat, took the 180-yard lows in 22.1, placed third in the broad jump and ran a leg of the half-mile relay.

Wellsville's high jumping star, Bob Kiggans, remained undefeated in his favorite event by leaping 5 feet, 5 inches to come out on top.

Other firsts for Wellsville, were taken by Jackson with a heave of 42 feet in the shot put, while Phil Baldwin picked up the first place ribbon in the half-mile with a clocking of 2:15.6, and Pearson won the discus with a toss of 98 feet, 7 inches.

Both of East Liverpool's relay teams won. The 880 team was clocked in 1:39 and the mile relay in 3:51.8.

The Potters will participate in the Bellaire Relays Saturday.

10 Race Horses Killed In Blaze At Beulah Park

Five horses were saved before flames leveled Barn No. 5, track officials said.

The barn was occupied by horses trained by John Johnson Jr. and William Brady. Beulah Park now is the scene of a 44-day running meet.

Cause of the fire was not determined. A Pinkerton Detective Agency man making a routine check of the track barns had just passed Barn No. 5 when he heard a noise and turned to look back. Then he saw a big ball of flame in the middle of the long barn. He sounded the alarm.

Cardinals Trip Jones, Drop San Francisco To 2nd Place

Rained-Out Bucs Take Over First

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer

The St. Louis Cardinals have at last caught up with old pal Sam Jones, flattening the big right-hander for the first time in six decisions when he tried to dust them off for real.

Sad Sam, retaliating after teammate Jim Davenport had been plunked by the Cards' Larry Jackson, fired his first pitch behind Joe Cunningham. But after Umpire Shag Crawford served a lecture on dusters, Cunningham singled and the Cards were off on a four-run first inning for a 4-2 victory over the San Francisco Giants Tuesday night.

That tripped the Giants out a tie for the National League lead with the Pittsburgh Pirates, idled by rain at Philadelphia in the first postponement of the major league season. The Los Angeles Dodgers retained third place, beating the Chicago Cubs 8-1 as Don Drysdale put away his fourth straight complete game and third victory with a four-hitter. Milwaukee defeated Cincinnati 4-3 in 11 innings on Del Crandall's home run and a four-hitter by Warren Spahn, who won his first.

In the American League, Cleveland tagged the Detroit Tigers with their first defeat, 2-1 in 12 innings, and Boston beat second-place New York 7-5. Al Smith was 5-for-5 and Bob Shaw pitched the first complete game by Chicago's staff with a five-hitter for an 8-0 victory over Kansas City. Baltimore out-slugged Washington 11-10.

Jones (2-1) was rapped for six hits and lasted just two-thirds of an inning. He had been 5-0 against the Red Birds since they traded him to the Giants a year ago.

Bill White, who came to the Cards in that swap, started the scoring with a two-run triple. Then Stan Musial singled across the clincher. Rookie Georges Maranda, Bud Byerly and Billy O'Dell blanked St. Louis over the final 7 1-3 innings.

Davenport was struck on the right collarbone by Jackson in the first inning. X-rays failed to disclose a fracture, but the sophomore third baseman, sidelined by a knee injury during the Giants' losing run for the 1959 pennant, probably will miss a couple of games.

Drysdale (3-1) had a no-hitter until the fifth inning, when doubles by George Altman and Del Rice gave the Cubs their run. The side-arming right-hander struck out 10 for a league-leading total of 33.

The Dodgers, scoring five unearned runs on four Cub errors, had 13 hits and piled up seven runs in three innings against loser Glen Hobbie (1-1).

Cincy Beaten 4-3 By Braves In 11 Innings

CINCINNATI (AP) — Warren Spahn, at 39 a seemingly ageless baseball wizard, has tamed the Cincinnati Reds again, this time in overtime, 4-3.

The 11-inning victory by Spahn and the Milwaukee Braves Tuesday night added to Spahn's imposing record against the Reds through the years.

Want to know how he does it? He's so effective other pitchers consider it an education to watch him at work.

"I throw mostly fast balls and curves the first time around," he said. "The second time I figure the batters will be looking for the hard one and the hook, so I ease up and use let-up stuff, throwing them off stride."

The reds got only four hits off him Tuesday night, and except for two lapses, one aided by an error, he held the Reds under tight control.

The Braves put three runs over on young southpaw Jim O'Toole in the first inning before he settled down to hurl shutout ball the next nine frames.

Cincinnati got back in the game in the third inning when Vada Pinson slammed a double and Gus Bell hit his first homer of the season.

Those were the Reds' only hits through seven stanzas, as Spahn retired 13 men in a row at one stretch.

O'Toole did well too, but a little more casually. He gave up 11 hits but kept them well scattered.

The Reds had tied it in the eighth. Braves shortstop Johnny Logan muffed Eddie Kasko's little fly. O'Toole sacrificed Kasko to second, Roy McMillan singled him to third and Kasko scored on Pinson's single.

Phils Pilot Benches Roberts Until Monday

He is being benched until next Monday when he is scheduled to start against Chicago.

Mauch did not state specifically why he was benching Roberts, the winningest pitcher in Phillies history with 222 victories, but it obviously was because he has been hit hard in his first three starts.

In three starts and one three-inning relief stint he has given up 30 hits and 21 earned runs. His record is 1-2 but he has failed to complete a game.

Chicago Blasts A's, 8-0, To Shake Losing Streak

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer

It was a long time coming, but the American League champion Chicago White Sox finally broke loose. They junked their slump just one game shy of the cellar behind a pair of overdue guys—Bob Shaw and Al Smith.

Smith, batting a scrawny .136, hit a home run and was 5-5 in a 15-hit outburst while Shaw blanked Kansas City on five hits for an 8-0 victory Tuesday night, his eighth in a row over the A's since 1958.

That ended the White Sox losing string at four, and kept them from plunging past Cleveland into eighth place. The Indians, winning their second in a row after dropping their first four, dealt the first-place Detroit Tigers their first defeat, 2-1 in 12 innings. Boston beat the New York Yankees 7-5, and Baltimore out-slugged Washington 11-10.

Shaw, last year's top percentage pitcher (.750, 18-6) in the AL, became the first to put away a complete game among Chicago's starters. The big right-hander, battered in his first start and beaten in relief while walking eight in 3 2-3 innings, gave up just one base on balls and struck out three for a 1-1 record.

Wynn Hawkins, 24, a right-handed rookie, and Jim Perry combined for a five-hitter against the Tigers, whose run was unearned in the seventh inning. Vic Power singled and scored the Injuns' first run in the sixth on a single by Johnny Temple, then brought in the winner on a two-out single in the 12th after a walk and Don Dillard's pinch single. Hawkins (1-1) went 11 innings, with Perry pitching a hitless 12th.

Ex-Indian Rocky Colavito was 0-for-4 for the Tigers, who had won their first five. Dave Sisler lost it in relief.

The Yankees stayed within a half-game of the Tigers while losing their second—both to Boston's Jerry Casale (2-0). It was Casale's seventh straight success since last August

Williams Is Slowed With Pulled Muscle

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Ted Williams was angry. He pounded a fist on the locker door and followed it up with a vicious kick after Tuesday's Boston-New York game.

"Can you beat this for luck?" he growled. "I was feeling great. Best in years. I was just getting in the groove. No aches and pains. I was getting set for a helluva year. I felt it in my bones.

"Then this thing had to happen. I guess I just don't live right."

Ted stuck out his long left leg. Gingerly he felt the area of the calf just below the back of the knee, where he suffered a pulled muscle April 19.

"I pulled it right here," he said. "It still hurts. Not so much now but I can't run yet. I should be ready in about three or four days. But that will add up to about 10 games that I'll miss."

It didn't take Ted long to get over his anger. Especially when those two home runs he hit in his first two games were mentioned.

"Say, I really laid into that first one," he said with the old Williams' gusto. "I hit the sweat out of it. And I felt good up there at the plate, too.

"If I can only get in there for about two weeks without getting hurt again, I'll really explode. But don't quote me. Let 'em (the pitchers) sleep."

Cardinals Trip Jones, Drop San Francisco To 2nd Place

Rained-Out Bucs Take Over First

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer

The St. Louis Cardinals have at last caught up with old pal Sam Jones, flattening the big right-hander for the first time in six decisions when he tried to dust them off for real.

Sad Sam, retaliating after teammate Jim Davenport had been plunked by the Cards' Larry Jackson, fired his first pitch behind Joe Cunningham. But after Umpire Shag Crawford served a lecture on dusters, Cunningham singled and the Cards were off on a four-run first inning for a 4-2 victory over the San Francisco Giants Tuesday night.

That tripped the Giants out a tie for the National League lead with the Pittsburgh Pirates, idled by rain at Philadelphia in the first postponement of the major league season. The Los Angeles Dodgers retained third place, beating the Chicago Cubs 8-1 as Don Drysdale put away his fourth straight complete game and third victory with a four-hitter. Milwaukee defeated Cincinnati 4-3 in 11 innings on Del Crandall's home run and a four-hitter by Warren Spahn, who won his first.

In the American League, Cleveland tagged the Detroit Tigers with their first defeat, 2-1 in 12 innings, and Boston beat second-place New York 7-5. Al Smith was 5-for-5 and Bob Shaw pitched the first complete game by Chicago's staff with a five-hitter for an 8-0 victory over Kansas City. Baltimore out-slugged Washington 11-10.

Jones (2-1) was rapped for six hits and lasted just two-thirds of an inning. He had been 5-0 against the Red Birds since they traded him to the Giants a year ago.

Bill White, who came to the Cards in that swap, started the scoring with a two-run triple. Then Stan Musial singled across the clincher. Rookie Georges Maranda, Bud Byerly and Billy O'Dell blanked St. Louis over the final 7 1-3 innings.

Davenport was struck on the right collarbone by Jackson in the first inning. X-rays failed to disclose a fracture, but the sophomore third baseman, sidelined by a knee injury during the Giants' losing run for the 1959 pennant, probably will miss a couple of games.

Drysdale (3-1) had a no-hitter until the fifth inning, when doubles by George Altman and Del Rice gave the Cubs their run. The side-arming right-hander struck out 10 for a league-leading total of 33.

The Dodgers, scoring five unearned runs on four Cub errors, had 13 hits and piled up seven runs in three innings against loser Glen Hobbie (1-1).

Cincy Beaten 4-3 By Braves In 11 Innings

CINCINNATI (AP) — Warren Spahn, at 39 a seemingly ageless baseball wizard, has tamed the Cincinnati Reds again, this time in overtime, 4-3.

The 11-inning victory by Spahn and the Milwaukee Braves Tuesday night added to Spahn's imposing record against the Reds through the years.

Want to know how he does it? He's so effective other pitchers consider it an education to watch him at work.

"I throw mostly fast balls and curves the first time around," he said. "The second time I figure the batters will be looking for the hard one and the hook, so I ease up and use let-up stuff, throwing them off stride."

The reds got only four hits off him Tuesday night, and except for two lapses, one aided by an error, he held the Reds under tight control.

The Braves put three runs over on young southpaw Jim O'Toole in the first inning before he settled down to hurl shutout ball the next nine frames.

Cincinnati got back in the game in the third inning when Vada Pinson slammed a double and Gus Bell hit his first homer of the season.

Those were the Reds' only hits through seven stanzas, as Spahn retired 13 men in a row at one stretch.

O'Toole did well too, but a little more casually. He gave up 11 hits but kept them well scattered.

The Reds had tied it in the eighth. Braves shortstop Johnny Logan muffed Eddie Kasko's little fly. O'Toole sacrificed Kasko to second, Roy McMillan singled him to third and Kasko scored on Pinson's single.

FIELD AND STREAM

By R. L. LIDE

The switch to "fast time" will at least give the "beatnicks" an extra hour in the coffee shop, the "golfnicks" an extra hour on the links and the "fishnicks" extra time on the lakes.

But what about we farmers? Cows and chickens can't tell time so DST doesn't mean a thing. Puts me in mind of the old Indian—his blanket was too short, so he cut a foot off the top and sewed it on the bottom.

THERE WAS lots of activity at Zepernick Lake over the weekend. The parking lot was full and many cars were parked on the berm of the road. Seven-inch bluegills, 10-inch bullheads and many small bass were being taken from 6 to 11 inches. A few of the eastern chain pickerel were taken 10 and 11 inches; which indicates a remarkable growth for yearlings. Looks as though they will do good in this lake, but it will take a few years for them to reach the size that makes it interesting. They reach about 9 pounds at maturity.

Carp fishermen at Guilford were taking them from 19 inches and up to tackle-buster size.

Two fishermen told me they had carp on who headed for deep water, taking hook, line and sinker. Bullheads, small crappies, sunfish and 6-inch perch were being caught by many of the shore-line fishermen. The bigger bass seem to be out in deeper water, but this could change any day as the lake temperature has reached 62 degrees. This means spawning could begin any time.

THE MALE bass builds the nest and then rounds up the female and aggravates her until she spawns in the bed he has prepared.

The male bass then fans the eggs until they hatch, then takes up guard of the fry. As long as he can keep them in a limited circle, he protects them. After they grow to a certain size they want to fan out in all directions, so the male opens his mouth and gobbles up everyone he can before they seek shelter in the weed beds. Then they are on their own.

Clyde Bailey, an ardent fisherman from Salem, hasn't had too much luck so far this year. He picked up a couple of 14-inch bass at Zepernick's, but I'll guarantee you if anybody gets big bass he will be among the top contenders. He is one of the best when it comes to tying flies. Incidentally, he makes most of his lures and he is what you would call a fisherman's fisherman.

MUSHROOM hunters aren't having much luck after the spring morels. Could be the dry weather we have been experiencing is the reason. I don't remember when it was so dry in April. The dust flew while the farmers were ploughing. About a month ago we were shoveling snow.

In spots, the wooded hillsides and low bottoms are covered with trillium. The flower is white at first, but changes to blue or pinkish with maturity. They can be grown in shaded spots at your home, but as somebody said, "Wild flowers are for the heart not the hand."

Anyone knowing where there is a dove nesting that can be reached please get in touch with me.

28-Foot Jump Not Out Of Question, Declares Owens

"But 28 feet is not out of the question," says Jesse Owens, who owns the world record in the broad jump — 26 feet 8¼ inches.

Owens set the mark at Ann Arbor, Mich., May 25, 1935. The old-time Ohio State sensation has seen many attempts at his record but it stands as the oldest of the standard marks in track and field.

Owens, now in his mid-40s and an official in the Illinois Youth Council in Chicago, nominated Gregg Bell as the possible record breaker. He pointed out that Bell has done 26-7 and is capable of an even better performance.

Burke Opens Title Defense

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Jack Burke Jr. is the nearest thing to an exception to the rule that former champions of the $35,000 Houston Classic Golf Tournament have a tough time while trying to defend their titles.

Burke begins defense of his second Houston title Thursday with the opening round of 72 holes at the 7,122-yard, par 72 Memorial Park course.

No one has ever won the tournament two years in a row. The six champions between Burke's two titles failed miserably in their bids to repeat. All six failed to qualify for the final 36 or 18 holes the year they returned to defend.

Burke first won in 1952. He failed to repeat in 1953 but did complete the 72 holes with a 286 that collected $750. He won the 1959 tournament with a playoff 64 after he and Julius Boros tied with 277s.

Bill Collins, Crystal River, Fla., and Ernie Vossler, Midland, Tex., had low individual medals Tuesday in a pair of $2,500 pro-amateur events at Brae Burn and Westwood Country Clubs.

2 Derby Threats May Meet Again At Keeneland

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP)—Kentucky Derby threats Tompion and Victoria Park, one-two finishers in a star-studded prep last week, may meet again in Thursday's $25,000-added Blue Grass Stakes at Keneland.

C. V. Whitney's Tompion, derby winter book favorite, and Victoria Park, owned by Windfields Farm, finished a length and a half apart last Friday when Tompion pulled out to win the Forerunner Purse here.

Besides those two, expected starters are T. A. Grissom's Lurullah and Reverie Knoll Farms' Royal Reverie. J. Graham Brown's Run For Nurse and I.C. McMahan's Hillsvale also might go.

Beaver Local Thinclads Drop Fifth At Sebring

Tickets Going Fast For Tilt On WVU Floor

MORGANTOWN (AP) — Basketball fans have gobbled up all the $5 reserved seat tickets for the exhibition game featuring the U. S. Olympic Team, set for here next Aug. 10.

The Olympic Team, which includes All-Americas Jerry West, Jerry Lucas, Darrell Imhoff and Oscar Robertson, will square off against the Cleveland Pipers of the National Industrial Basketball League.

Simmons said yesterday that he had been flooded with orders for 1,600 of the $5 tickets, exceeding the limit by 500.

The extra 500 will be mailed $4 tickets plus a $1 refund. Simmons said most of the 6,500 seats in the Mountaineer Fjeldhouse have been priced at $2.50. All seats are reserved.

Meanwhile, it was announced the Olympic Team will play only three exhibition games prior to leaving for the games in Rome next August.

The team will play Cleveland at Canton, Ohio, on Aug. 6, then come to Morgantown for its Aug. 10 date. The final game will be staged in Cincinnati on Aug. 13 against a team yet to be selected from the NIBL.

The Olympic players will report for practice Aug. 1 at West Point. Their coach will be Pete Newell of California.

By The Associated Press

The International League, which has led all the minor leagues in total attendance for the last four years, opens shop at Buffalo—its biggest gold mine—today when the 1959 pennant - winning Buffalo Bisons play Richmond.

Babe Birrer gave Havana only four hits Tuesday night. The Cubans, Len Cardenas and Borrego Alvarez and Montreal's Joe Altobelli and Dom Carrasquel homered.

Lakers' Transfer To Coast Needs Only League Vote

NEW YORK (AP) — Only the formality of a league vote remained today and the National Basketball Assn. will reach out to the West Coast.

The last big barrier to the transfer of the Minneapolis franchise to Los Angeles was hurdled Tuesday night in Los Angeles when the Coliseum Commission agreed to lease the 14,000-seat sports arena to the NBA team.

That means owner Robert Short of the financially-insolvent Minneapolis Lakers will take his team west if the rest of the league areas.

"All other things being equal," said NBA President Maurice Podoloff, "I can see no opposition.

"The only problem we have is the schedule. We will work one out so that all the other teams get a fair crack at the West Coast. This is not an impossible task."

The three-day NBA meeting closes Thursday.

FIELD AND STREAM

By R. L. LIDE

The switch to "fast time" will at least give the "beatnicks" an extra hour in the coffee shop, the "golfnicks" an extra hour on the links and the "fishnicks" extra time on the lakes.

But what about we farmers? Cows and chickens can't tell time so DST doesn't mean a thing. Puts me in mind of the old Indian—his blanket was too short, so he cut a foot off the top and sewed it on the bottom.

THERE WAS lots of activity at Zepernick Lake over the weekend. The parking lot was full and many cars were parked on the berm of the road. Seven-inch bluegills, 10-inch bullheads and many small bass were being taken from 6 to 11 inches. A few of the eastern chain pickerel were taken 10 and 11 inches; which indicates a remarkable growth for yearlings. Looks as though they will do good in this lake, but it will take a few years for them to reach the size that makes it interesting. They reach about 9 pounds at maturity.

Carp fishermen at Guilford were taking them from 19 inches and up to tackle-buster size.

Two fishermen told me they had carp on who headed for deep water, taking hook, line and sinker. Bullheads, small crappies, sunfish and 6-inch perch were being caught by many of the shore-line fishermen. The bigger bass seem to be out in deeper water, but this could change any day as the lake temperature has reached 62 degrees. This means spawning could begin any time.

THE MALE bass builds the nest and then rounds up the female and aggravates her until she spawns in the bed he has prepared.

The male bass then fans the eggs until they hatch, then takes up guard of the fry. As long as he can keep them in a limited circle, he protects them. After they grow to a certain size they want to fan out in all directions, so the male opens his mouth and gobbles up everyone he can before they seek shelter in the weed beds. Then they are on their own.

He picked up a couple of 14-inch bass at Zepernick's, but I'll guarantee you if anybody gets big bass he will be among the top contenders. He is one of the best when it comes to tying flies. Incidentally, he makes most of his lures and he is what you would call a fisherman's fisherman.

MUSHROOM hunters aren't having much luck after the spring morels. Could be the dry weather we have been experiencing is the reason. I don't remember when it was so dry in April. The dust flew while the farmers were ploughing. About a month ago we were shoveling snow.

In spots, the wooded hillsides and low bottoms are covered with trillium. The flower is white at first, but changes to blue or pinkish with maturity. They can be grown in shaded spots at your home, but as somebody said, "Wild flowers are for the heart not the hand."

Anyone knowing where there is a dove nesting that can be reached please get in touch with me.

28-Foot Jump Not Out Of Question, Declares Owens

"But 28 feet is not out of the question," says Jesse Owens, who owns the world record in the broad jump — 26 feet 8¼ inches.

Owens set the mark at Ann Arbor, Mich., May 25, 1935. The old-time Ohio State sensation has seen many attempts at his record but it stands as the oldest of the standard marks in track and field.

Owens, now in his mid-40s and an official in the Illinois Youth Council in Chicago, nominated Gregg Bell as the possible record breaker. He pointed out that Bell has done 26-7 and is capable of an even better performance.

Springfield Thinclads Eye Another Track Title

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Springfield's Wildcats go after their fifth straight championship, and their tenth in 14 years, in Saturday's 19th annual Ohio Wesleyan High School Relays.

And the Clark Countians should get quite a lift toward their goal through the efforts of a youngster, Eddie White, who could be the best high jumper the state has produced.

White, a 6-5 senior, went over the bar at 6-5½ last Saturday as the Wildcats won their own relays. That's a half-inch better than the state record, and 1½ inches over the mark with which Dave Browning of Maumee won last year's state title.

The Wesleyan relays are unique in that all competition is on a team basis instead of individual. All races are four-man relays, and in the field events the efforts of three from each school are added to determine the winner.

The accent is on squad depth instead of individual brilliance, but White could easily provide the difference in the high jump. The Wildcats usually have the depth, since only Cleveland East Tech in 1950-52-55 and Mansfield in 1954 have been able to break the Springfield victory string at Delaware since 1947.

Xenia Woodrow Wilson's six-title string was broken in Class A last year by Chagrin Falls, which nosed out state champion West Alexandria by 22 to 21½ points. Springfield triumphed 41-33 over East Tech in the larger school division.

More than 1,000 boys will compete in the Wesleyan classic, which is co-sponsored by the Ohio High School Athletic Assn.

Unheralded Golfer Grabs Spotlight

PINEHURST, N. C. (AP)—Two rounds today will reduce the field to eight men in the wide open North and South Amateur Golf Tournament's 60th staging.

Opening competition Tuesday was unusually keen as 22 of the 32 matches went 16 holes or more.

The spotlight was on unheralded two-handicapper Bill Nicks of Los Angeles, who ousted medalist Herb Durham of Dallas, Tex., 1 up.

Nicks, who met John Ward of Fayetteville, N. Y., today, is here because of a selling job done by fellow Californian Gene Andrews. Andrews, runnerup to Jack Nicklaus last spring, was unable to come back this spring, but told Nicks that he should come here at least once to take part in an outstanding tournament.

The 36-year-old road builder was four over par in his victory over Durham, winning the 15th and 16th holes and halving the last two to protect his slender margin.

Dale Morey of Morganton, S. C., former Walker Cup player, and onetime professional, met Dudley Wysong of McKinney, Tex., in another top upper half match. They won the two most one-sided round assignments.

DiSalle Refuses To Commute Life Term Of Slayer

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Gov. Michael V. DiSalle has refused to commute the life sentence of a first-degree murder because the slayer "has lost all contact with the outside world" during 27 years in prison.

DiSalle denied clemency for Virgil Yankie, 57, convicted of the fatal shooting of Mrs. Josie Haws in Adams County on June 30, 1932. He was admitted to Ohio Penitentiary the following January.

"His record is good but he has lost all contact with the outside world," DiSalle said in announcing his decision. "Indications are that he would have difficulty in getting along if paroled."

The Pardon and Parole Commission recommended against commutation of Yankie's first-degree murder conviction to second-degree, which would make him eligible for parole, DiSalle said.

Wellsburg Trackmen Win, Toronto Second

WELLSBURG, W. Va. (AP)—Wellsburg's Orangemen scored 61 3-7 points Tuesday night to run off with the championship of the Brooke Relays for the second straight year.

Toronto finished second with 51 6-7 points. Next in order were Triadelphia 45 3-7, Wheeling 38 3-7, Follansbee 26½, Linsly Military 22½, Warwood 12 3-7, Moundsville 5 5-7 and Benwood Union 5.

Miamisburg Rejected In Nuclear Plant Bid

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Atomic Energy Commission has rejected the application of Miamisburg, Ohio, in its search for a site for a small experimental nuclear power plant.

The AEC said it has narrowed its search for the 12 million dollar plant to Jamestown, N. Y., and LaCrosse, Wis. The plant will be designed to produce 22,000 kilowatts of electricity for residential and commercial use.

Parents Can Do Much To Improve TV

Don't most parents assume that everything a child hears and sees has something to do with what he supposes is right and desirable? We talk to him at home about what is right and what is wrong. In Sunday School, church or synagogue, he learns about kindness, love and compassion. At school he is exposed to high ideals, ways of doing right and ways of being a good citizen. If we knew there was going to be a murder down the street we would not take him there to witness it. Yet we seem little concerned that the child, 2, 7, or 10, freely witnesses many murders on TV every day and many exciting programs of slugging, stabbing, torturing and killing.

By Garry Meyer.

IN THE AVERAGE home, children from two years upward spend hours and hours looking at exciting programs of gore and horor, their parents often viewing the same with them.

Testifying before a Congressional committee a few months ago, Mrs. Clara S. Logan, President of the National Association for Better Radio and Television, said:

"The average American youngster sees violent destruction of 13,000 human beings on TV between the time he enters kindergarten and reaches the age of 14."

Ask any parent about these horrifying programs on TV and she will say that they are awful, or that she wishes there were not so many of them. She may add, "I guess there's nothing we can do about them."

ALSO SHE HAS a vague notion that these programs must not be too bad or her friends who are parents would be more concerned about them; or the priest, rabbi, or minister would denounce them, and her religious and educational journals would crusade against them.

Too, she may recall hearing and reading the words of certain persons, who she supposes are authorities, that children don't take these programs seriously; that only the bad or emotionally disturbed child could be harmed by them.

If, occasionally, the mother's conscience bothers her about the programs of gore and horror to which her children are exposed, she may reason that they're not facing dangers in the street when viewing TV. They're not wearing out her nerves by being under her feet or quarrelling and fighting with their brothers and sisters.

BESIDES, SHE MAY tell herself she couldn't keep her tots or older children from viewing "bad" programs if she wanted to. The average parent couldn't, so long has she been brain-washed to believe that she shouldn't restrain her children and has so rarely been shown by any expert how she might control them.

How?

By entreating broadcasting companies not to put such programs on the air and to put on wholesome ones instead.

Parents who care can get monthly guidance on evaluating TV programs from the National Parent-Teacher Magazine, published at 700 North Rush Street, Chicago 11, Illinois.

Leaders Needed For Various Scout Activity In Area

Only 29 per cent of the some 4,300 youths in southern Columbiana County and northern Hancock County are enrolled in Boy Scout activities, Robert Gray, Cherokee District executive, announced today in asking for more adult leaders in the program.

"Men are needed to help serve on various levels of scouting to bring the program to young men in the area," he said.

"There are at present not enough volunteer leaders to serve as advisors for Cub, Scout or Explorer units, and not enough members of district staffs to service the units once they are formed."

Gray urged any men with spare time and an interest in helping youth to apply for scout posts. "We are all busy—we live in a busy age—but capable men can always find time to work with the guidance and assistance of young people," he said.

Gray said new units are being formed throughout the district, and anyone interested in choosing an area of service may obtain information from him or from Eugene Seeley or A. C. West, all of Chester.

The abbreviation 'SHAPE' stands for Supreme Headquarters, Allied Powers in Europe.

Association To Hear Executive Of Crucible

MacDonald W. Anderson of the Crucible Steel Co. will speak on "Automation and Administrative Management — The Latest Technique" at the meeting of the Beaver Valley Chapter of the National Association of Accountants Thursday at 6:30 p. m. at the Penn Beaver Hotel in Rochester.

Anderson joined Crucible in 1947 as budget administrator at the Midland Works and was promoted to chief accountant the following year. He was transferred to Pittsburgh as controller of the Park and Spring Works in 1950 and was promoted to the company's main office in 1955 to organize a systems and procedures department and to develop the company's integrated data processing program.

Here's Another Story About Census Taking

NORFOLK, Va. (AP) — Add to tales of the census:

Mrs. Phyllis Hagen, taking the count at a trailer park, knocked at the door of one of the rolling homes and was admitted by a monkey. She duly counted the six people who lived in the trailer while the family's pet monkey sat on her shoulder.

Uniforms Bought For United Band

HANOVERTON — Orders for 53 new black and gold uniforms for the United High School band were placed Tuesday following approval by the Band Boosters.

The boosters met Monday night to authorize the purchase of the uniforms, along with 14 for majorettes and attire for the drum major.

Some $3,202 has been collected towards the $4,300 cost of the uniforms. A tag day will be held Saturday at Salem to raise band funds.

A nominating committee was named to select a slate of officers for election at the next meeting May 23. The ways and means committee and executive committee are to meet to make plans for a band banquet. Mick Kupinski, president, was in charge.

Dog Trot Snarl

ALEXANDRIA, Va. (AP) — A dog trotting across the busy Shirley highway entrance to Washington set off a chain reaction. A motorist jammed on his brakes, five cars were damaged and two persons injured and traffic was backed up for seven miles. The dog was uninjured.

Woman Gets Purse She Lost 10 Years Ago

SADDLE BROOK, N. J. (AP) — Mrs. Harry Nelson, 31, lost a wallet 10 years ago while taking a walk. It came back to her in the mail recently from an anonymous sender.

Personal papers and cards inside were intact. But the money and stamps she had carried were gone.

While The Cat's Away

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — Atty. Walt Christensen was out of town for two days arguing a lawsuit, but he's not thinking of leaving again soon. When he returned, one partner had bought a lot, the other had a new convertible, and the firm's bank account was overdrawn.

Hawaiian Surprised Driver's License Void

HONOLULU — Police on Kauai Island were surprised to learn that Carlos Talaban has been driving a car for 38 years without a valid driver's license.

Out Of The Air

By JOHN CROSBY

Early G. B. Shaw

"Capt. Brassbound's Conversion," which "Hall of Fame" is presenting on NBC-TV next Monday 10 p.m., originally was written by George Bernard Shaw for Ellen Terry in 1899 but not performed by her until 1906, suggesting that playwrights had to stand in line for the stars as long as they do now. This is early Shaw when the waspish Irish gentleman still had Ibsen's pinfeathers in his wings and vestigial traces of Dickens in his tail.

John Crosby

By that I mean that Shaw's heroines had been brought over almost intact from Ibsen and his men taken — as he himself blandly confessed — right out of Dickens.

The trouble is that Shaw couldn't borrow really from anyone and all his characters, once they'd passed through his own tall domed skull, came out mostly Shaw.

LADY CECILY, who is the heroine of this play, is one of the most recalcitrantly sweet and indomitably female characters of all literature, alternately endearing and infuriating. In the end she is a little too much of a bit, I think, to sustain the play throughout.

I wouldn't know offhand whether Greer Garson adequately fills Ellen Terry's shoes but they have the same qualities. They're both great ladies and both very beautiful in a mature English fashion.

Christopher Plummer plays Capt. Brassbound, the vengeful hero, in his musclebound way with great authority and sharpness and not quite enough humor. (Though, goodness knows, there isn't much humor in the part.)

THE BEST PARTS, of course (as always), are the minor ones. Shaw always claimed he knew more about Cockney than anyone else and his scallywag Drinkwater (George Rose) is a delicious personality.

He's a real philosopher, is Drinkwater, and much of the philosophy underneath the Cockney accent is pure Shaw at his most pragmatic and humanitarian.

The trouble is that the exigencies of space and time on television cut Drinkwater down quite a bit. It also cut down the conversion of Brassbound to the point where it becomes barely credible.

Something seems to have fallen out of the trial scene at the end, too, that takes the cream out of the jest. I suspect this is partly George Schaefer's fault but mostly George Shaw's.

Just the same, it's a civilized hour and a half, this mixture of derring-do — kidnapings and hairbreadth rescues and pirates and Arabs and civilized English lady and gentleman — and sophisticated talk and I unhesitatingly recommend it. Next Monday.

THERE WERE outraged cries that the role belonged to Greta Garbo but, failing her, I can think of no better girl than Maria Schell who was an absolutely enchanting "Ninotchka" last week.

This is the tale of the female commissar sent to Paris full of zeal for the revolution who is seduced by the elegance and the gayety and the food and only incidentally by Gig Young. Twenty years later, the tale becomes a Graustark romance — still charming but awfully Never Never.

The humor is way out of date; the commissar objecting, for example, to paying 2,000 francs a day for the imperial suite. The Russians now buy up all the best homes, including those of all the bourgeois millionaires on Long Island to house their visiting diplomats and negotiators in posh luxury.

MISS SCHELL, staring unsmiling at a little froth of a female hat and saying, "How can a civilization survive that puts a thing like that on a woman's head?" is still funny. But it's no longer real —and maybe it never was.

Just the same, I had an awfully good time with this retread of an old movie. So it wasn't Lubitsch! It was still awfully good television and a pleasant relief from the homicides.

City Student's Poetry Will Go Into Anthology

A poem written by Miss Rosa Hughey, a senior in East Liverpool High School, has been accepted for publication in the annual Anthology of High School Poetry in Los Angeles.

The poem was written by Miss Hughey in 1959 while she was in Ira C. Sayre's honor class, for the magazine, "Impressions," published by English III honor class.

She is the daughter of Mrs. Mary Hughey, 1839 Ohio Ave. Her poem follows:

Poetry's lovely,
Poetry's fine
Poetry affects some people like wine,
I like mine gay
I like mine as bright as the world in May.

Poetry's sad
Poetry's blue,
Poetry gets melancholy too,
I like mine calm,
I like mine stormy,
I like the kind that doesn't bore me.

New Lights Used On 3 Storefronts

Three stores in the Brookes Building at Market and 5th Sts. have added to the appearance of the shopping district with the completion of a new type of fluorescent lighting for their fronts.

The fixtures, utilizing so-called high-level illumination, were installed for Robins & Sant, Morton's Jeweiry and the World Book & Supply House as a joint project of the three firms.

The system was extended around the corner for Robins & Sant, which has display windows on 5th. All front on Market St. The drooway to the building also was modernized. Morton's also brightened its bronze name letters with gold trim.

What's This, A Gag?

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — S. J. Bradbury pulled his new automobile license plates from the envelope and a note fell out. "Help, it said, "I'm being held a prisoner at 500 Spring Street." That's the address of the state penitentiary where the tags are made.

Fire Damage Added Up; Chief Has Biggest Loss

MADELIA, Minn. (AP) — When the damage was added up after a fire at the Arthur Kunz farm, the biggest loss went to Fire Chief Joe Marturano.

Firemen Run Into New One—Saving 1,000 Fish

NORTON, Va. — Volunteer firemen are used to rescuing people from burning buildings and cats from tall trees. But they ran into a new one when they were called on to save the lives of 1,000 fish.

The fish were being transported from the hatchery at nearby Marion when the tanker truck sprung a leak and went dry. Responding to a rush call, the firemen refilled the tank from a fire hydrant, and not a fish died.

Few people realize how much mothers influence our nation's future. Our instincts are changing to more tolerance, and greater belief in the "Golden Rule." These qualities we learn from our mothers.

But, mothers are also greatly responsible for the improved health of our nation. They follow their physician's advice, so they can have stronger, healthier children. With loving care, mothers make certain babies get the important vitamins and special baby diet their Doctors suggest. We can help by supplying these aids to baby's better health.

Out Of The Air

By JOHN CROSBY

Early G. B. Shaw

"Capt. Brassbound's Conversion," which "Hall of Fame" is presenting on NBC-TV next Monday 10 p.m., originally was written by George Bernard Shaw for Ellen Terry in 1899 but not performed by her until 1906, suggesting that playwrights had to stand in line for the stars as long as they do now. This is early Shaw when the waspish Irish gentleman still had Ibsen's pinfeathers in his wings and vestigial traces of Dickens in his tail.

John Crosby

By that I mean that Shaw's heroines had been brought over almost intact from Ibsen and his men taken — as he himself blandly confessed — right out of Dickens.

The trouble is that Shaw couldn't borrow really from anyone and all his characters, once they'd passed through his own tall domed skull, came out mostly Shaw.

LADY CECILY, who is the heroine of this play, is one of the most recalcitrantly sweet and indomitably female characters of all literature, alternately endearing and infuriating. In the end she is a little too much of a bit, I think, to sustain the play throughout.

George Schaefer, who directed and produced, has handsomely mounted the old play and directed it swiftly, surely and economically.

I wouldn't know offhand whether Greer Garson adequately fills Ellen Terry's shoes but they have the same qualities. They're both great ladies and both very beautiful in a mature English fashion.

Christopher Plummer plays Capt. Brassbound, the vengeful hero, in his musclebound way with great authority and sharpness and not quite enough humor. (Though, goodness knows, there isn't much humor in the part.)

THE BEST PARTS, of course (as always), are the minor ones. Shaw always claimed he knew more about Cockney than anyone else and his scallywag Drinkwater (George Rose) is a delicious personality.

He's a real philosopher, is Drinkwater, and much of the philosophy underneath the Cockney accent is pure Shaw at his most pragmatic and humanitarian.

The trouble is that the exigencies of space and time on television cut Drinkwater down quite a bit. It also cut down the conversion of Brassbound to the point where it becomes barely credible.

Something seems to have fallen out of the trial scene at the end, too, that takes the cream out of the jest. I suspect this is partly George Schaefer's fault but mostly George Shaw's.

Just the same, it's a civilized hour and a half, this mixture of derring-do — kidnapings and hairbreadth rescues and pirates and Arabs and civilized English lady and gentleman — and sophisticated talk and I unhesitatingly recommend it. Next Monday.

THERE WERE outraged cries that the role belonged to Greta Garbo but, failing her, I can think of no better girl than Maria Schell who was an absolutely enchanting "Ninotchka" last week.

She's a beauty, all right, all right, as stimulating as anything that has been on television in a long while. A fine deadpan comedienne, too.

This is the tale of the female commissar sent to Paris full of zeal for the revolution who is seduced by the elegance and the gayety and the food and only incidentally by Gig Young. Twenty years later, the tale becomes a Graustark romance — still charming but awfully Never Never.

The humor is way out of date; the commissar objecting, for example, to paying 2,000 francs a day for the imperial suite. The Russians now buy up all the best homes, including those of all the bourgeois millionaires on Long Island to house their visiting diplomats and negotiators in posh luxury.

MISS SCHELL, staring unsmiling at a little froth of a female hat and saying, "How can a civilization survive that puts a thing like that on a woman's head?" is still funny. But it's no longer real —and maybe it never was.

Just the same, I had an awfully good time with this retread of an old movie. So it wasn't Lubitsch! It was still awfully good television and a pleasant relief from the homicides.

New Lights Used On 3 Storefronts

Three stores in the Brookes Building at Market and 5th Sts. have added to the appearance of the shopping district with the completion of a new type of fluorescent lighting for their fronts.

The fixtures, utilizing so-called high-level illumination, were installed for Robins & Sant, Morton's Jeweiry and the World Book & Supply House as a joint project of the three firms.

The system was extended around the corner for Robins & Sant, which has display windows on 5th. All front on Market St. The drooway to the building also was modernized. Morton's also brightened its bronze name letters with gold trim.

Fire Damage Added Up; Chief Has Biggest Loss

MADELIA, Minn. (AP) — When the damage was added up after a fire at the Arthur Kunz farm, the biggest loss went to Fire Chief Joe Marturano.

Kunz had the fire out by the time the firemen arrived, and his new home suffered only smoke damage.

Firemen Run Into New One—Saving 1,000 Fish

NORTON, Va. — Volunteer firemen are used to rescuing people from burning buildings and cats from tall trees. But they ran into a new one when they were called on to save the lives of 1,000 fish.

The fish were being transported from the hatchery at nearby Marion when the tanker truck sprung a leak and went dry. Responding to a rush call, the firemen refilled the tank from a fire hydrant, and not a fish died.

4 Students Staged First Lunch Counter Sit-Down

Across the South this spring, more than 1,000 lunch counter demonstrators have been arrested as Negro college students increased pressure to end segregation of department store eating facilities. This report, second in a series of three, traces the spread of the demonstrations — and reports what has followed in their wake.

By PERRY MULLEN
Associated Press Staff Writer

A tiny seed planted in the winter soil of North Carolina burst into sudden bloom all across the South this year with the advent of Dixie's languid spring.

Negro college students in many parts of the South adopted a form of passive resistance to end segregation of public dining facilities with lunch counter sit-downs.

Four Negro college students staged the first Southern lunch counter sit-down Feb. 1 at Greensboro, N.C., closing down an F. W. Woolworth lunch counter there. They said they acted spontaneously. Others maintained that the Congress Of Racial Equality was behind their demonstration.

CORE, action arm of those fighting for racial equality, admittedly helped bring the original Greensboro seed to full bloom elsewhere, to the accompaniment in some areas of tear gas, fire hoses and tension.

Leon Holt, a Negro field secretary for CORE, said he helped form a chapter of the congress at Atlanta March 23. Two nights large department store where Negroes had been refused lunch counter service.

Still later in the Georgia State Capital Building in Atlanta an aged Negro looked on in wonder as 12 Negro college students sought service at an all-white cafeteria.

Elsewhere in the South, the situation brought on by the sit-downs threatened to grow ugly. White Southern groups served notice they intended to stand on their rights as they saw them.

In Montgomery, Ala., capital of the old Confederacy, 500 city, county and state police broke up a Sunday mass meeting of Negroes and dispersed a crowd of 5,000 white persons. The cause of the gathering was a sit-down by Alabama State College students in the segregated Montgomery County courthouse grill.

Montgomery County has 105,650 whites and 70,730 Negro residents.

The privately operated grill was closed for a week and reopened with signs at the entrance reading: "Service restricted to employes of the courthouse and their guests."

Gov. John Patterson threatened to cut off state funds to the Negro college.

Nine of the student leaders were expelled and 32 were fined $200 each for disorderly conduct and ignoring police orders. They were released on bail pending appeals.

Edward Strickland, assistant attorney general of Alabama, accused CORE of rehearsing the courthouse sit-down in advance on the Alabama State campus.

Declared Lt. Gov. Albert Boutwell of Alabama:

"No good can be accomplished by the sit-downers. The purpose is to agitate, gain notoriety, create racial strife and strengthen their organizations. They must have racial strife to continue in existence. It is obvious that they are trying for publicity because the press is always tipped off in advance of the demonstrations."

Another tense situation arose in Tallahassee, Fla., after lunch counter demonstrations by students at all-Negro Florida A. & M. University. City officials cracked down hard and Gov. LeRoy Collins observed later:

"This caused conditions to become aggravated. We had armed patrolmen—state, county and city—patrolling every street because we had the wildest rumors imaginable going on there about what was to happen."

Ira Robinson, president of the Student Union at Florida A. & M., said CORE instigated the first three of four demonstrations by the students. The fourth, he added, was in protest against the arrest of 11 student demonstrators. Convicted of disturbing the peace, they were given 60 days in jail and fines of $300—sentences now being appealed.

Crum Indicted On 9 Charges

HILLSBORO, Ohio (AP)—Everett Crum, who kept all southern Ohio uneasy in a 55-hour spree of violence last February, has been indicted on nine charges.

The Highland County grand jury returned the indictments Tuesday, including four charging shooting to kill in connection with gun battles with police here and at Lynchburg.

The grand jury also returned two indictments charging Crum with aggravated assault, and one each for burglary, auto theft and robbery.

He finally was cornered two days later in the village of Cherry Fork in Adams County. He held a man hostage for two hours before state highway patrolmen and the sheriff of Clinton County talked him into surrendering.

Nixon Would Sit In For Ike At Paris Talks

WASHINGTON (AP) — Vice President Richard M. Nixon will sit in for President Eisenhower at the Paris summit meeting if the President is forced by "domesitc requirements" to return before it ends.

The White House announced that Tuesday, saying Eisenhower could spend only a week in Paris for the East-West talks because of a scheduled visit to Portugal set for May 23. The summit meeting starts May 16.

Political observers saw in the announcement a potentional boost for Nixon's prestige as a statesman. Such a move would bring the vice president promimently into the highest policy councils of the world just a few weeks before the Republican National Convention at which he expects to be named the GOP presidential candidate.

McKelway Heads AP Again; Other Officers Elected

NEW YORK (AP) — Directors of The Associated Press have re-elected Benjamin M. McKelway of the Washington Star as president of The AP.

Lloyd Stratton was re-elected secretary and Robert Booth treasurer. Frank J. Starzel continues as general manager.

The AP directors elected these men to the executive committee: McKelway, Clarke, Spangler; W. H. Cowles of the Spokane (Wash.) Spokesman-Review; Robert McClean of the Philadelphia Bulletin, and John R. Reitemeyer of the Hartford (Conn.) Courant.

Chamber Sets Aid For City's Cleanup Drive

As part of its co-operation in Spring Cleanup Month, which opens Monday, the Chamber of Commerce has agreed to attempt to arrange for use of some of its members' trucks to aid the incinerator department in the annual city-wide trash collection.

The Chamber's participation is being directed by the community improvement committee, headed jointly by Donald Baxter and Norman Nicely.

The Chamber will promote a "Cleanup-Paintup-Fixup" drive throughout the month, urging both business houses and home-owners to brighten and renovate their premises for the new season.

As part of their share in the campaign, merchants will be asked to brighten up the downtown area, particularly their own buildings and premises. The businessmen also will be asked to promote the citywide campaign in window displays and newspaper advertising.

Supt. Ralph W. Betts has pledged the school system's co-operation. Custodians will be asked to clean up school grounds and do necessary maintenance work on the exterior of the buildings. Teachers will pass along word of the drive to their pupils, emphasizing particularly the anti-litterbug theme.

The Chamber's committee said it plans to ask Boy Scouts and other youth organizations to take on the job of cleaning up some littered or weed-grown vacant lots.

The Chamber committee talked over its part in the drive at a meeting Monday afternoon. In addition to the co-chairmen, those attending included A. C. Purinton Jr., Paul Pugh, Christ Pallis and E. R. Chandler, secretary - manager.

Chandler explained the Chamber made its plans in response to a request from Mayor Bert H. Goodballet.

"We are very happy that we were asked to co-operate and we will do anything possible to help make the campaign a success," he said.

Criminal Case Trials Delayed Until May 9

LISBON — Trials of criminal cases for the April term of Common Pleas Court have been postponed a week, according to G. William Brokaw, county prosecutor.

The first trial was scheduled to begin Monday but will now start May 9.

The first on the docket is that of Donald Charles Uselton, 18, of 311 Beleek St., East Liverpool, charged with the burglary of the Wellsville Feed & Supply Co. Feb. 7.

The trial session was reset because of the primary next Tuesday and the Ohio State Bar Association meeting in Columbus May 5-7, the prosecutor said.

MIDDLETOWN, Ohio (AP) — Butler County Republicans have a new chairman of their county executive committee — John R. Moser, assistant county prosecutor. In a surprise move, Martin A. Coyle resigned Tuesday night after a dozen years as chairman, and the group immediately named Moser to succeed him.

Coyle, 44, said he thinks he held the office long enough and that he expects increased pressure from business affairs. He recently invented a voting machine now undergoing trials.

4 Students Staged First Lunch Counter Sit-Down

Across the South this spring, more than 1,000 lunch counter demonstrators have been arrested as Negro college students increased pressure to end segregation of department store eating facilities. This report, second in a series of three, traces the spread of the demonstrations — and reports what has followed in their wake.

By PERRY MULLEN
Associated Press Staff Writer

A tiny seed planted in the winter soil of North Carolina burst into sudden bloom all across the South this year with the advent of Dixie's languid spring.

Negro college students in many parts of the South adopted a form of passive resistance to end segregation of public dining facilities with lunch counter sit-downs.

Four Negro college students staged the first Southern lunch counter sit-down Feb. 1 at Greensboro, N.C., closing down an F. W. Woolworth lunch counter there. They said they acted spontaneously. Others maintained that the Congress Of Racial Equality was behind their demonstration.

CORE, action arm of those fighting for racial equality, admittedly helped bring the original Greensboro seed to full bloom elsewhere, to the accompaniment in some areas of tear gas, fire hoses and tension.

Leon Holt, a Negro field secretary for CORE, said he helped form a chapter of the congress at Atlanta March 23. Two nights large department store where Negroes had been refused lunch counter service.

Still later in the Georgia State Capital Building in Atlanta an aged Negro looked on in wonder as 12 Negro college students sought service at an all-white cafeteria.

Elsewhere in the South, the situation brought on by the sit-downs threatened to grow ugly. White Southern groups served notice they intended to stand on their rights as they saw them.

In Montgomery, Ala., capital of the old Confederacy, 500 city, county and state police broke up a Sunday mass meeting of Negroes and dispersed a crowd of 5,000 white persons. The cause of the gathering was a sit-down by Alabama State College students in the segregated Montgomery County courthouse grill.

Montgomery County has 105,650 whites and 70,730 Negro residents.

The privately operated grill was closed for a week and reopened with signs at the entrance reading: "Service restricted to employes of the courthouse and their guests."

Gov. John Patterson threatened to cut off state funds to the Negro college.

"Citizens of this state do not intend to spend their money to educate law violators and race agitators," he declared.

Nine of the student leaders were expelled and 32 were fined $200 each for disorderly conduct and ignoring police orders. They were released on bail pending appeals.

Edward Strickland, assistant attorney general of Alabama, accused CORE of rehearsing the courthouse sit-down in advance on the Alabama State campus.

Declared Lt. Gov. Albert Boutwell of Alabama:

"No good can be accomplished by the sit-downers. The purpose is to agitate, gain notoriety, create racial strife and strengthen their organizations. They must have racial strife to continue in existence. It is obvious that they are trying for publicity because the press is always tipped off in advance of the demonstrations."

Another tense situation arose in Tallahassee, Fla., after lunch counter demonstrations by students at all-Negro Florida A. & M. University. City officials cracked down hard and Gov. LeRoy Collins observed later:

"This caused conditions to become aggravated. We had armed patrolmen—state, county and city—patrolling every street because we had the wildest rumors imaginable going on there about what was to happen."

Ira Robinson, president of the Student Union at Florida A. & M., said CORE instigated the first three of four demonstrations by the students. The fourth, he added, was in protest against the arrest of 11 student demonstrators. Convicted of disturbing the peace, they were given 60 days in jail and fines of $300—sentences now being appealed.

Crum Indicted On 9 Charges

HILLSBORO, Ohio (AP)—Everett Crum, who kept all southern Ohio uneasy in a 55-hour spree of violence last February, has been indicted on nine charges.

The Highland County grand jury returned the indictments Tuesday, including four charging shooting to kill in connection with gun battles with police here and at Lynchburg.

The grand jury also returned two indictments charging Crum with aggravated assault, and one each for burglary, auto theft and robbery.

He finally was cornered two days later in the village of Cherry Fork in Adams County. He held a man hostage for two hours before state highway patrolmen and the sheriff of Clinton County talked him into surrendering.

Nixon Would Sit In For Ike At Paris Talks

WASHINGTON (AP) — Vice President Richard M. Nixon will sit in for President Eisenhower at the Paris summit meeting if the President is forced by "domesitc requirements" to return before it ends.

The White House announced that Tuesday, saying Eisenhower could spend only a week in Paris for the East-West talks because of a scheduled visit to Portugal set for May 23. The summit meeting starts May 16.

Political observers saw in the announcement a potentional boost for Nixon's prestige as a statesman. Such a move would bring the vice president promimently into the highest policy councils of the world just a few weeks before the Republican National Convention at which he expects to be named the GOP presidential candidate.

McKelway Heads AP Again; Other Officers Elected

NEW YORK (AP) — Directors of The Associated Press have re-elected Benjamin M. McKelway of the Washington Star as president of The AP.

The board of directors Tuesday also named Richard W. Clarke of the New York Daily News as first vice president and Raymond L. Spangler of the Redwood City (Calif.) Tribune as second vice president.

Lloyd Stratton was re-elected secretary and Robert Booth treasurer. Frank J. Starzel continues as general manager.

The AP directors elected these men to the executive committee: McKelway, Clarke, Spangler; W. H. Cowles of the Spokane (Wash.) Spokesman-Review; Robert McClean of the Philadelphia Bulletin, and John R. Reitemeyer of the Hartford (Conn.) Courant.

Seven members of the 18-man board of directors were named at the annual meeting of Associated Press members Monday. The board held its organization meeting Tuesday.

Chamber Sets Aid For City's Cleanup Drive

As part of its co-operation in Spring Cleanup Month, which opens Monday, the Chamber of Commerce has agreed to attempt to arrange for use of some of its members' trucks to aid the incinerator department in the annual city-wide trash collection.

The Chamber's participation is being directed by the community improvement committee, headed jointly by Donald Baxter and Norman Nicely.

The Chamber will promote a "Cleanup-Paintup-Fixup" drive throughout the month, urging both business houses and home-owners to brighten and renovate their premises for the new season.

As part of their share in the campaign, merchants will be asked to brighten up the downtown area, particularly their own buildings and premises. The businessmen also will be asked to promote the citywide campaign in window displays and newspaper advertising.

Supt. Ralph W. Betts has pledged the school system's co-operation. Custodians will be asked to clean up school grounds and do necessary maintenance work on the exterior of the buildings. Teachers will pass along word of the drive to their pupils, emphasizing particularly the anti-litterbug theme.

The Chamber's committee said it plans to ask Boy Scouts and other youth organizations to take on the job of cleaning up some littered or weed-grown vacant lots.

The Chamber committee talked over its part in the drive at a meeting Monday afternoon. In addition to the co-chairmen, those attending included A. C. Purinton Jr., Paul Pugh, Christ Pallis and E. R. Chandler, secretary - manager.

Chandler explained the Chamber made its plans in response to a request from Mayor Bert H. Goodballet.

"We are very happy that we were asked to co-operate and we will do anything possible to help make the campaign a success," he said.

Bomberger New Beaver PTA Head

Plans were made for the purchase of new, 50-star American flags for 24 classrooms.

A wrestling exhibition was presented by seventh grade boys. Refreshments were served by the eighth grade mothers. The next meeting will be May 23.

Criminal Case Trials Delayed Until May 9

LISBON — Trials of criminal cases for the April term of Common Pleas Court have been postponed a week, according to G. William Brokaw, county prosecutor.

The first trial was scheduled to begin Monday but will now start May 9.

The first on the docket is that of Donald Charles Uselton, 18, of 311 Beleek St., East Liverpool, charged with the burglary of the Wellsville Feed & Supply Co. Feb. 7.

The trial session was reset because of the primary next Tuesday and the Ohio State Bar Association meeting in Columbus May 5-7, the prosecutor said.

MIDDLETOWN, Ohio (AP) — Butler County Republicans have a new chairman of their county executive committee — John R. Moser, assistant county prosecutor. In a surprise move, Martin A. Coyle resigned Tuesday night after a dozen years as chairman, and the group immediately named Moser to succeed him.

Coyle, 44, said he thinks he held the office long enough and that he expects increased pressure from business affairs. He recently invented a voting machine now undergoing trials.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: How far does "love thy neighbor" go, anyway?

The woman next door is a scatterbrain who dumps her problems on anyone handy. Every year she has a new baby. Without warning I'm stuck with her kids whenever she goes to the hospital.

This morning at 1 a.m. she and her husband appeared at our front door with their four little ones. We've known since December she was pregnant. They acted as if they'd just found it out. We couldn't turn them down at that hour so now I have her four and my three!

Last year I hinted strongly that she couldn't count on me again because I have neither the space nor the strength. She had nine months to make other arrangements. What shall I do next year? I've had it.—EASY MARK.

Dear Easy: Tell her well in advance and stop hinting. Remind her from time to time and if necessary offer to help line up a housekeeper who can take over on a moment's notice.

Course Of True Love

Dear Ann: I'm a girl 18 who is very much in love with a boy 19. We plan to be married in a few years.

Our biggest problem centers around sex. It's not his fault or mine either. We both try very hard to control ourselves. So far we haven't lost our heads completely but we're getting close to the line.

Maybe I'm stupid but why is it wrong when two people are in love? Everyone says it's wrong but no one says why. We respect each other and plan to be married.

If I had a daughter and she asked me why it's wrong to give yourself before marriage I couldn't tell her. Can you tell me?—PAT.

Dear Pat: It's wrong because it violates the moral code. The primary purpose of complete physical love is to bring children into the world.

It can be dangerous because couples sometimes change their minds and don't marry after all. This can be a devastating experience. My desk is always piled high with letters from heartbroken girls who were left flat because they had no more to give. They never thought it could happen to them—but it did. Frequently these girls are pregnant and, needless to say, these letters are the most tragic of all.

If it's really love it's also respect and consideration. And it can wait for full expression. Of course this takes control but this is part of being civilized, mature and self-disciplined.

Both At Fault

Dear Ann: My husband is a devoted Landers fan. Please tell him off in your inimitable style so I can shove the paper in his face and say, "SEE!"

We've been married five years and never have had any trouble until last week. He is trying to teach me to drive. Suddenly I'm the dumbest woman who ever lived. He claims I'll never learn to handle a car because I have "slow reflexes and a limited mentality."

Deep down I feel he is at fault because he's a poor teacher and has no patience. Please tell him.—STRIPPED GEARS.

Dear Gears: I'll tell you both. A smart wife:

2. Never plays bridge with her husband.

3. Never lets her husband teach her to drive.

Confidentially

TO NO HOPE LEFT: You wouldn't take medicine prescribed for someone else would you? Well, why take advice prescribed for a woman who is 20 years younger, divorced and alcoholic?

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

How Can I

By ANNE ASHLEY

Q. How can I prevent that unsightly crease that often results when trousers have been hanging for some time on a wire coat hanger?

A. One way is to place a newspaper under the trousers while they are on the hanger. Or, loop a piece of cardboard over the hanger. Don't fold; let it curve gently, and fasten it with paper clips at the bottom.

Q. Is there a recipe for a good "homemade" underarm deodorant?

A. One good one is comprised simply of bicarbonate of soda diluted with water. It is also a good body deodorant to add a little bicarb to your tub of bath water.

Q. What is the best way to store leftover putty in order to prevent its drying out?

A. Keep it in a plastic bag.

Farm Women Return From Leadership Class

Five Hancock County women have returned from the Home Demonstration Leadership Training Conference for Farm Women's Club members held in Jacksons Mill April 18-22.

Theme was "These Values I Cherish," with 29 classes and workshops conducted at the conference by Mrs. A. H. VanLandingham, a member of Gov. Cecil H. Underwood's committee on the aging.

Delegates were Mrs. Kenneth Timberlake and Mrs. Kenneth Melvin of the Agathelian Farm Women's Club of Weirton, and Mrs. Luke Daily, Mrs. Floyd Grimes and Mrs. John Village of the Oakland Club near Weirton.

The first typewriter of which there is any record was patented in England in 1714. The first American typewriter was patented in 1829, and was called a "typegrapher."

OF ALL NEW HOMES BUILT HERE ARE HEATED WITH GAS

Yes, in 1959, 99 out of every 100 new homes built here and constructed on Gas Company lines were heated with gas. And here are the reasons why:

- GAS HEAT costs only 1/5 to 1/3 as much as electric heat. You save as much as $350 a year by heating with Gas.
- GAS HEAT is fresh air heat—and fresh air means better health for the entire family.
- GAS HEAT, with a forced air system, enables you to convert readily to year 'round central air conditioning anytime you want to. This is important. Experts predict that the home of the future is going to be a completely air-conditioned home. So . . . don't install a heating system that can never be converted to year 'round air conditioning. Don't install a heating system that may soon make your home old fashioned and out of date.
- GAS HEAT requires a minimum of attention. You need to set only one thermostat for whole home comfort.
- GAS HEAT is modern—and will be modern years from now. Registers can be set flush to the baseboards. You have unlimited freedom to arrange your furniture any way you wish.
- GAS HEAT allows for normal, healthful air changes in your home. You don't have to seal it as tight as a thermos bottle to keep costs from soaring.
- GAS HEAT is clean. Fresh air is filtered to remove dirt before it is heated and circulated through your home.

These are the facts on home heating. They prove why Gas Heat is the overwhelming choice for new homes in this area. Get the very best for your new home. Insist on Gas Heat.
